'CHURCHES ARE NO MORE SALT OF THE EARTH'

TORONTO (CP) — A visiting American theologian believes the churches should be concentrating on their proper religious function instead of promoting the status quo and attacking Communism.

Prof. Markus Barth of the University of Chicago Divinity School, said Wednesday night that "churches are no more the salt of the earth, but sugar-coaters of the status quo."

Prof. Barth, in Toronto as special lecturer at Knox Presbyterian College, criticized negative church sermons on the evils of smoking, drinking and Communism.

Western churches do not teach democracy to the world because they don't practice it themselves, he said. The United States, by putting its trust in atomic weapons, is admitting that it doesn't trust democracy to work, Prof. Barth added.

He said that he would not make a direct comment on the charges of Mr. Manson Wednesday that the cabinet was acting in contempt of the lieutenant-governor.

Eoin Ruthven of Royal Securities in Victoria, said he would be "surprised" if there was a general resistance to B.C. bonds.

"We don't think the takeover terms all that dreadful. Our worry is that it creates a precedent that other property might be taken over without arbitration."

He said there might be a different reaction the next time B.C. goes on the market. "How they're going to raise the money for the Peace is beyond me," he said. "If they do raise it, the terms will be expensive."

B.C. Attorney-General Bonner said the report sounds like part of the public relations campaign instigated by the B.C. Power Corporation to discredit the government's takeover of the B.C. Electric.

"Secondly," said Mr. Bonner, "Kippen and Co. is a very small eastern firm which at no time has dealt with the B.C. Government in issuing of bonds."

"And thirdly, if this is the type of advice this company gives its investors then it is time its investors started questioning the company's advice. "In other words, I think it is a fatheaded statement."

Chinese Entertain At 'Lion' Festival

Ancient Chinese brush paintings, more than 100 years old and standing 14 feet high are one of the features at the Lantern Festival which is being held today in the Club Sirocco, 1037 View Street.

The festival — sponsored by Victoria Chinatown Lions Club in aid of Lions Club charities — was opened at 2 p.m. by Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, wife of B.C.'s premier.

It will continue this evening between 7 and 11.

On sale at the numerous stalls are Chinese lanterns, curios, home-baking (both Chinese and Canadian), and sewing.

Entertainment includes a Chinese pageant, "Lum Kwok celebrates Chinese New Year," a fashion show of modern Chinese costumes; and a pantomime-type play "Crossing Autumn River."

Some $225-worth of door prizes are being offered.

'U.K. SOUNDS COLDER THAN BRITAIN'

OTTAWA (CP) — United Kingdom government agencies in Canada, Australia and New Zealand will gradually drop their identification as "United Kingdom" and become known as "British," a spokesman said today.

The spokesman for the United Kingdom Information Office — now the British Information Office — said the change is being made because the three senior Commonwealth countries are the only ones in which the U.K. designation has been used recently.

"United Kingdom sounds very cold, and so we have decided to use the term which is more generally used throughout the world," the spokesman said.

AIR TRAVEL HITS

Cunard Drops Plan for New Super-Liner

LONDON (AP) — The Cunard Line announced today it has indefinitely postponed plans to build a 75,000-ton trans-Atlantic liner to replace the Queen Mary.

"Potential first-class passengers tend to use air travel," the company said. "Operating costs continue to increase but cannot be offset by raising fares because of intense competition from the air."

Sir John Brocklebank, chairman of Cunard, said the firm will show a heavy loss for its operations in 1961.

In an attempt to meet airline competition, Cunard has applied to the British government for permission to run a limited air service between Britain and North America. The application strongly opposed by British Overseas Airways Corporation, still is under consideration.

The Queen Mary, launched in 1936, carries more than 2,000 passengers.

So will the other Bomarc's that are being shipped to Canada on tarpaulin-covered truck beds.

Informed sources said today the Bomarc's will not be equipped with warheads, nuclear or conventional.

Contrary to information made public by the Diefenbaker government, there is no such thing as a conventional warhead for the Bomarc B.

The United States, which had such a warhead for the first series of Bomarc—the Bomarc A—did not bother to develop a conventional warhead for the Bomarc B.

It can carry a nuclear warhead or nothing.

In the case of the Bomarc's being installed at North Bay and Mont Laurier, Que., it will be nothing.

The Bomarc's will remain unarmed until the outbreak of war appears imminent.

Inevitably the U.S. is angry at the Canadian decision not to put atomic warheads into the Bomarc's. The two Canadian Bomarc sites fill in a gap in U.S. defences against manned bomber attack.

The U.S. claims, according to informed sources, that failure to arm the Bomarc's with the only warheads available, nuclear warheads, comes close to constituting a breach of the NORAD agreement.

K'S SPEECH BROADCAST NEEDS TEAM

LONDON (Reuters) — Two Moscow radio announcers Wednesday took on the marathon task of broadcasting to the Russian people Nikita Khrushchev's six-hour and 20-minute speech to the Soviet party congress Tuesday.

The text read over the stations included Khrushchev's statement that Russia would explode a 50-megaton hydrogen bomb before the end of the month.

Until now the Russian people had not been told that Russia had resumed nuclear testing.

VANCOUVER (CP) — University of British Columbia officials said Wednesday the campus is in danger of becoming a parking blacktop jungle unless more students start to ride buses instead of bringing their cars.

RUSSIA STAND REMAINS UNCHANGED

New Corridor Tension Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomatic sources said today Moscow has sent a note renewing a Soviet stand on Berlin air corridors that is unacceptable to the West.

The text of the Soviet note, delivered to the American, British and French embassies in Moscow, was not immediately available here.

Informants said the Russian communication replied "September 8 Western notes warning the Kremlin that any interference with the air traffic linking West Berlin with West Germany would be "aggressive action".

Moscow was said to have restated its view that the air corridors are only supposed to be used for supplying the Western garrisons in Berlin. The Western powers regard the air lanes as a vital lifeline for the city, to be used for general civilian purposes and otherwise without Red interference.

NOT GOOD OMEN

The Soviet note was not regarded as a good omen in the German dispute about which State Secretary Dean Rusk spoke at a press conference Wednesday. Rusk, giving the first public U.S. government assessment of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech to the Communist party congress in Moscow, said he could only pass preliminary judgment because the full text of the lengthy Khrushchev address still is not available here. He declined to say whether it makes the prospects for peace better or worse.

Khrushchev's relaxation of his Dec. 31 deadline for his peace treaty with Communist East Germany, Rusk said, "may serve to reduce tension some-what."

But Khrushchev's "general observations about the German and Berlin problems show little if any change from what has been said before," Rusk added.

COMPLETE DISARMAMENT MUST—RUSK

Danger of Power Vacuum

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk has hinted to Russia that if it wants military "disengagement" in central Europe, it must first agree to a general disarmament deal.

Disengagement by itself—the withdrawal of opposing East-West forces from some point of tension such as Germany—might not bring peace and might create further instability through a power vacuum, Rusk said Wednesday in raising doubts that disengagement "has any future in it."

But if there is some progress in world disarmament on an indiscriminate basis leading to a reduction of forces in Europe and elsewhere, "this in itself would contribute to a reduction of tensions," he told a press conference.

The Communists have been persistently raising the question of some form of disengagement in Germany.

The U.S. will continue to seek a common ground that could lead to negotiations on the Berlin crisis, Rusk said. He said it is essential to continue talks to guard against a possible catastrophe through miscalculation.

"We are looking into the question of how we can give them a hand," Mr. Green told reporters Wednesday following a 1½-hour meeting he had with British Guiana Premier Cheddi Jagan.

Why?

MR. KHRUSHCHEV HAS ANNOUNCED that he intends to set off a 50-megaton nuclear bomb—an explosion 25 times greater than all the bombs the U.S. air force dropped on Germany and Japan in the Second Great War, and capable of producing appalling results not only in direct destruction in the detonating area but in radiation hazard throughout the world. Why?

Why is he topping off a series of nuclear tests—which already are causing worldwide concern as radioactivity counts surge upwards—with an explosion which experts say can yield him little additional information?

Surely his intentions are political rather than scientific. There are grounds for believing that this big bang—perhaps the whole test series—is part of a build-up to the negotiations on Berlin which are in prospect. Through such a terror tactic it appears that Mr. Khrushchev hopes to put the West and the uncommitted nations in a frame of mind which will lead to early agreement with his wishes.

The neutral nations, whose representatives recently gathered at Belgrade, may hope to remain neutral—but neutral against what? It is difficult to remain neutral about a 50-megaton hydrogen bomb, from which the so-called uncommitted nations could be among the first to suffer. Yet what are the non-aligned countries doing?

They should be the first to rise in the United Nations Assembly and shout their protests. They should be the first to see the Soviet nuclear policy for what it is—a serious threat to the health and life of humanity, born and unborn. By their silence, whether they know it or not, the uncommitted nations may be committed to death.

Evidently Mr. Khrushchev believes he will derive benefits from his bomb tests which will be more important than the cost he must pay in world disapproval. For the neutral nations will not like radioactive fallout, even though they may be slow to lodge their protests against the source. And other countries, such as Japan, will be violently antagonized.

Only a short time ago Moscow sent Mr. Mikoyan on a goodwill visit to Japan. What goodwill could he have generated that will stand up to the horror and anger with which Japan—knowing the terrible destructive power of the atom all too well—now greets Mr. Khrushchev's incredible declaration?

Some of the Khrushchev strategy also emerges in the latest announcement. Having run his test of more than 20 explosions in the atmosphere, to be climaxed by history's greatest detonation, Mr. Khrushchev may say he is content and will test no more. What then will the United States be able to do? There have been several recent American tests, staged underground to prevent the danger of fallout. With the atmosphere of the globe dangerously polluted, and world opinion demanding a cessation of tests, Russia will have gained an advantage over the West, for the West would face serious political and humanitarian difficulties in duplicating the Soviet series.

But regardless of manoeuvre and strategy, the man in the street will still ask: Why? He knows the existing bomb stocks are enough to destroy any target, be it a city or a continent. He wants to know why the bombs must be bigger, why there must be more of them. And he would like to know, too, whether the adage, "Whom the gods destroy they first make mad," is repeating the truth it demonstrated in the careers of the late Benito Mussolini and Adolf Hitler.

Mr. Bennett's Second Thoughts

WHEN MR. BENNETT TOOK over the B.C. Electric his main reason was that his government could not secure a fair share of federal corporation taxes on a privately-owned utility. The same argument applies to the West and East Kootenay power companies. But, on second thoughts, Mr. Bennett apparently is not taking them over. Why this discrimination against the coast corporation and in favor of the two interior corporations?

The reason, obviously, is political. Many municipalities well served by the local companies in the Kootenay region have told the government that they are well satisfied and don't want public power. Why should they? Their power rates are relatively low, their service excellent.

So one principle is applied to the coast and quite another to the interior. On the coast the government saves the money formerly paid by the B.C. Electric in federal taxes, and uses this money to pay for preliminary work on the Peace River. In the interior Ottawa is still collecting its revenues from the power users—only because Mr. Bennett is afraid of the local voters.

Maybe We Ought to Learn, Too

THE UNITED STATES NATIONAL Task Force on Economic Education has reached a characteristic conclusion that more Americans should know more about economics.

To expand knowledge on the subject the group has recommended that a higher proportion of high school time be devoted to economic subjects. It has also recommended that the studies include the examination of controversial issues, and it urges that teachers improve their abilities to teach the subject by further study of it themselves.

This seems a reasonable attitude for the task force to take. Perhaps the proposed new emphasis might be extended to Canada. Here we are currently engaged in a great debate over the possible effects on Canada of Britain's prospective entry into the European Common Market. The man in the street is given certain information on the question in his newspaper.

How often is that information ignored because it's something to do with "economics"—a subject very often regarded as incomprehensible to the average person?

Our future, as individuals and as a nation, turns very largely on the course we follow in the realm of economics. How can we, as individuals and as a nation, choose an intelligent course, or instruct our government to choose an intelligent course, when economics is a subject virtually unknown to the majority of Canadians?

Obviously we, no less than the Americans, need instruction leading to understanding. We should begin to get that instruction in school, and long before it becomes an elective course at the university level. How else can we navigate the economic seas ahead of us?

Evolution of a Mushroom Cloud

SYRIA'S FREEDOM

By MICHAEL ADAMS

Egypt May Want It Too

THE Syrian episode is over as far as Egypt is concerned, admittedly rounded off by President Nasser's masterly speech in which he accepted the dissolution of the United Arab Republic—but the post-mortem has only just begun.

The Egyptians have absorbed the shock of the loss of Syria with their usual resilience—indeed their mood seems to be one of positive relief at the severance of a link which has little spiritual significance for the Egyptians and brought them only additional financial burdens.

But that does not prevent them from asking who has blundered or why the president should have found himself in the humiliating position which only his remarkable political acumen enabled him—making a virtue of necessity—to turn into a kind of political Dunkirk.

The most obvious scapegoat is the unhappy Field-Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer whose responsibility it was to keep Syria loyal to the president and who was completely duped by his Syrian subordinates.

While the authors of the revolt in Damascus have carefully kept themselves in the background it is known to a limited circle in Cairo that the strength of the conspiracy which came to light on Sept. 23 was drawn together by no other than Amer's chief personal assistant in Damascus, Lieutenant-Colonel Abdel Karim Nekhlawi, the Syrian officer on whom Amer relied for his information about the reliability of the Syrian Army.

Discontented Officers

Enjoying Amer's confidence and fully informed of Egyptian intentions in all army matters, Nekhlawi was in a position to co-ordinate the plan of the discontented Syrian officers.

He also persuaded Amer to sign an order for the transfer or retirement of 150 Syrian officers on the grounds that their loyalty was suspect, then went to each of these and told them the Egyptians were planning to remove them and replace them by other Egyptians, and so ensured their support for the coup.

Before the coup could take place a detailed report from the Egyptian Intelligence Service in Syria had been submitted to Amer suggesting that a revolt was being planned and even listing some of the officers who had agreed to take part.

This report has been mentioned in the Egyptian press where a leader-writer of "Al-Ahram" wrote last Friday that "Some people might ask why the report was ignored." Indeed they might, and the answer is that Amer showed it to Nekhlawi, who promised to investigate it and later reported that it was greatly exaggerated and there was no need for worry.

Finally, when the tanks were on the way to Damascus early in the morning of Sept. 23 and were observed by Egyptian officers who reported their movements to Amer it was again Nekhlawi who explained it away by saying that these units were only undertaking a properly authorized manoeuvre.

In this way, the coup d'état was actually controlled from Amer's own headquarters in Damascus.

The authorities in Cairo and the controlled press, taking their cue from the president's able speech on Thursday, are now busily disseminating the official Egyptian apology for the failure of the UAR, explaining that what they did in Syria was all for the Syrians' good.

This is debatable and it may be true that the Union meant more sacrifices than gains for Egypt—but it is not the point. The fact, and it is one which the Egyptians for all Nasser's apparent magnanimity refuse to accept, is that the Syrians did not like what the Egyptians were doing, and having tried several times to tell them so they sent them packing.

If the Syrians now fall back into the internal confusion from which Nasser saved them in 1958 the Egyptians will be able to say, "We told you so," and this is what many of them quite humanly both expect and hope will happen.

But if not, if the Syrians by some unforeseen alchemy turn their country into a successful democracy, then a growing number of Egyptians encouraged by their example are going to want to take the same liberty even if they can hardly expect to enjoy a comparable degree of prosperity. And then it will be interesting to see whether the Egyptians have really heard the last of the Syrian defeat or not.

By Special Arrangement with The Manchester Guardian.

DENNIS THE MENACE

Religious Questionnaire

Dr. McLean Replies

I have been reported recently as having made in city council an attack—"vehement," "bitter"—against the Unitarians. The word "smear" has been used. Please allow me to put the record straight.

An issue which never arose in city council has been created by taking and interpreting certain of my remarks out of context. I had no intention to, nor did I, attack any organization. I did not argue that the opinions of the Unitarians should not be heard. I did point out that the opinion expressed was that of a certain relatively small segment of our city's population. I suggested that the weight of the argument submitted should be assessed in the light of who made it.

In this I was pleading for an unbiased attitude by council toward the matter under consideration—questions of race, religion, color, or ancestry.

I referred to a letter from the city manager revealing a wide spread in the matter of races and religions among those on the city payroll: it is evident (and no one has suggested otherwise) that there has been no discrimination as a result of the information asked for on the application form. It was further pointed out that the information asked of the applicant was useful to the employer. Council by a majority vote agreed.

Your editorial on Wednesday, Oct. 11, "Religion And City Jobs," contains an attack on myself to which I must refer.

I think I know why this attack has been made. I submit that it is unworthy of the finest traditions of journalism.

As a public servant I have no reason to object to criticism: nor do I. I ask only that it be fair, clean and manly; above personalities and insinuations. I know of no other alderman the nature of whose business or profession is dragged into editorial discussion of purported civic business.

—ALD. J. LEWIS W. MCLEAN.

Reader Agrees

Congratulations on pulling no punches in your editorial on Alderman McLean's fatuous statement about people who do not practise his particular brand of ethics.

C. K. MORISON.

2220 Windsor Road.

The Right to Know

Your editorial, "Religion and City Jobs," Oct. 11, 1961, contains a non-sequitur which may or may not invalidate your very democratic-looking conclusion that applicants for city jobs should not be asked their religious affiliation.

You quote Mayor Scurrah as saying that "His religion is nobody's business but his own." You then quite reasonably say this affirmation can be generalized—"what applies to the Mayor should apply to the least... etc." But you then state "Freedom to worship as one chooses, or not to worship at all if the individual is so inclined, is a fundamental right."

Now this latter statement, however true, does not really bear on the question whether a man should be asked what his religion is. To ask such a question cannot in itself be said to limit a man's choice of religion or his freedom to worship.

What no doubt you are implying is that the asking of such a question suggests that the answer will have some bearing on whether the applicant gets the job; and if it has no bearing, then why ask the question? But surely any employer has a right (in a democracy) to know the important facts about prospective employees.

Is it not an infringement of democracy to insist, as a matter of principle, that employers, even the City Hall, shall be forced to buy pigs in pokes? And what is more important about a man than his religious persuasion?

However, the proposition "A man's religion is nobody's business but his own" is the sort of proposition that could only be conceived in an age when religion has lost its punch. It implies that a man's religion will have no bearing at all on the nature of his service to the public.

You show concern for the liberties of the subject, but it must be remembered that employers are also subjects and have their rights too. Of course the city authorities are perfectly at liberty to waive this question, but equally they have as much right (if they wish) as any other employer to ask what questions they choose before taking on people to work for them.

Intolerance?

I would like to congratulate the "Times" on its excellent editorial concerning the unfortunate remarks of Alderman McLean regarding religion and City Hall employees. It seems that alderman is not only a minister of religion but possesses a doctorate. It is difficult to believe that a man of education could have made the statements attributed to him.

His use of the word "biased" in regard to the action of the Labor Council was ridiculous. A representation from an organization consisting of a must of people of all religions and faiths would seem to all people of good will to be the essence of the brotherhood of man.

As for the Unitarians: the Reverend Doctor's remarks could be made from envy as Unitarians have an impressive record of many, many generations of humanitarians and men of letters out of all proportion to their numbers; they might well be considered one of the most "noiseless" sects.

In these times of race and religious hatreds it is indeed a frightening thing to have a man who should be a leader in his community lead the forces of intolerance instead of the march toward a better understanding between peoples.

I cannot help but wonder what Dr. McLean's congregation will think of him the next time he stands in the pulpit and preaches the brotherhood of man.

As for the city fathers—they are still living in the Middle Ages—and if religious beliefs are still to be a basis for the selection of city employees it is high time the general public took an active interest in the election of city aldermen and brought the city of Victoria in line with enlightened thinking.

In Perspective

I have no desire to stir up religious controversy, nor am I taking up the cudgels in defence of Alderman McLean. He does not need my help. But I am disturbed at what seems to me to be "a tempest in a teapot," which can, nevertheless, lead to unpleasant and unnecessary misunderstanding in the community.

The question of religious affiliation is asked by some companies of applicants for employment, merely because as public institutions they do not wish to have a preponderance of any one faith (or no faith at all) on their staff. Others merely ask the question as a lead to gain further information from the prospective employee. It would seem that both of these reasons would apply, in a special way, to civic employment.

The suggestion of discrimination at the local City Hall on the basis of religion is not only unthinkable, but most unlikely. When values are kept in their true perspective then emotions do not get out of control.

UN Pledge

In regard to the controversy now taking place on the question of the religion of applicants for municipal positions in Victoria; it is evident that our city council has overlooked the fact that Canada is a member of the United Nations whose charter calls for no discrimination on the grounds of "race, creed or color."

This, above all other considerations, should be the guidepost—otherwise we break our pledge to the UN.

Best Solution to the Problem: Transform West Berlin Into an International City

By WALTER LIPPMANN from Washington

AS I make it out from what I have heard, the situation at this point in the talks about Berlin is that while the important issues have been identified, they are not as yet clearly defined. No settlement is as yet in sight. Indeed, on the hard-core of the problem there has as yet been no negotiations and almost certainly no thorough exploration. In fact, neither side has as yet disclosed in the concrete what it will regard as an acceptable settlement.

There has, however, been progress in reducing certain highly inflammable secondary issues. So far as I know this has not been done by formal agreement but tacitly.

The Soviet government is by way of accepting the indisputable fact that the United States and its allies will not sign a peace treaty with East Germany, that they will not open up diplomatic intercourse with it and treat it as a lawful government. Their relations with East Germany can be no more than de facto.

The counterpart on our side is the tacit admission that there are two German States, and that it is no longer a practical objective of American policy to unify them by the integration of East Germany into West Germany.

As a corollary of the Soviet recession on the demand that we must sign a peace treaty, there is evidence of an understanding which is of great importance although there is not yet a formal agreement. The understanding is that Moscow, having negotiated with us a bill of rights for West Berlin, will incorporate this bill of rights in its own treaty which it intends to sign with East Germany.

This is a concession from the position often taken by Soviet officials in the past, that we would have to negotiate about our rights in West Berlin not with them but with the Ulbricht government.

On our side, the counterpart of the Communist concession is that we will not refuse to let East German officials replace Soviet officials on the access route.

In this connection we must remember that for some years East Germany has been administering control of West German and civilian access except in the air corridors. The East Germans have administered control over about 95 per cent of the traffic to West Berlin.

All of this does not, however, bring us to the hard core of the issues. The Soviet government has notified us that it will guarantee access to West Berlin on condition that West Berlin becomes a demilitarized free city, as they define these words. This is the hard core of the controversy, and it is important that we should know as exactly as possible what the issues are.

The Soviet government wants to sever the connection between West Berlin and Bonn, and also the connection between West Berlin and NATO. No doubt Moscow would prefer to have no separate city of West Berlin.

But its immediate objective is not to absorb West Berlin into East Germany, which would mean war, but to isolate West Berlin. It would be isolated politically altogether and in some negotiable degree it would be isolated economically.

The Soviet government wants also to cut the connection with NATO. It is willing to agree to a continuation of Western troops in West Berlin—but this is a very big but—there must then also be some Soviet troops.

The ultimate objective of this may be to be able to paralyze the allied troops and the West Berlin government in case of a Communist coup. But the immediate objective is to divorce the internal defence of Berlin from the competence of NATO.

As against these Soviet demands for a radical change in the status of West Berlin, our policy has been to maintain the status-quo, or as much of it as we can maintain without making concessions that would be regarded as surrender or appeasement. We have never had and we do not now have a positive American and Western proposal for giving West Berlin a more durable and a more secure status than it now has.

The policy of standing pat firmly means that Berlin is in a condition of perpetual crisis, which can never be resolved, where the choices are always to go to the brink of war or to incur the odium of appeasement.

The gap is wide between the Soviet demand for a radical change and the Western adherence to the status quo. President Kennedy is in a very difficult position and he deserves and needs the understanding and support of his own people.

He is being squeezed by his adversaries in Moscow, by his allies in Bonn and Paris, and by the right wing here at home. The net result of these multiple conflicting pressures could be to immobilize him on the brink of thermonuclear war.

The President's responsibilities are grave. But also grave are the responsibilities of those Germans, Frenchmen, and Americans who are tying his hands and are doing what they can to prevent negotiations and to precipitate a show-down.

To want to avert a show-down is not to lack nerve. It is to possess a realization of what thermonuclear war would really mean and what are the imperatives of diplomacy in this nuclear age. The President of the United States must not be driven into a corner where the only alternatives open to him are dishonor or surrender.

As I read the situation today, a failure to negotiate a settlement will mean, at the least, that West Berlin will have no emotional security whatever. It will never know what the East Germans will do to harass or to close down the access routes. Thus the Communists might do nothing for an indefinite time and that would be quite enough to keep Berlin and the world sitting on the anxious seat.

This is the way to create a panic in West Berlin and an intolerable frustration elsewhere.

At the worst, if there is no positive settlement, the Communists will narrow down, even if they do not close down, access to West Berlin, and this will bring us all to the brink of a thermonuclear war.

I do not think anyone can now foresee how Europe and America and the rest of the world would act if it were in fact on the brink of thermonuclear war. It has never been on the brink of thermonuclear war. The world does not now believe that there will be a thermonuclear war and that is why so many who ought to know better talk about it so glibly.

The President will have to lift the dispute above the issue of whether West Berlin is to be what the Soviets call a free city or whether it is to remain as it is with nothing changed. The most promising way he can do this is to propose that West Berlin be transformed into an international city, the site of organs of the United Nations and an international centre for study, scientific research, art and sports.

This would be a good future, far better than to be a dying city kept alive by subsidies and by the dubious assumption that the United States and its allies will always be willing to live on the brink of thermonuclear war.

My own exploration leads me to think that the international solution, utopian and idealistic though it sounds, might be made to work and could be acceptable.

REPORTING

OTTAWA — Not since 1932 has a Conservative majority in the Commons had a chance to back up electoral districts to its political advantage. This opportunity will present itself early in the new session of Parliament.

The custom since Confederation has been to redistribute the seats of the Commons by legislation passed at the first session following the decennial census. This involves dividing the seats into the new population figure, and the redrawing of constituency boundaries by a special committee of the Commons.

The ideal would be for every riding to contain the same number of voters. While redistribution theoretically aims at this ideal, it never achieves it. Rural ridings almost invariably end up with fewer people than city ridings. The MPs would have to abolish some of their own seats in order to achieve rural-urban electoral equality, and this they refuse to do. They argue that the rural ridings would then be too large geographically. So they prostitute the principle of rep. by pop. to the extent that in the 1958 election 5,191 farmers and fishermen in Isles de la Madeleine, Que., had as much say in electing the government as 112,628 city folks living in suburban York-Scarborough, Ont.

That would be bad enough without the companion evil, the gerrymander—named after Gov. Gerry of Massachusetts, whose party so carved up one county in 1812 that in outline it looked like a salamander.

The purpose of the gerrymander is simply to favor the candidates of the majority redrawing the boundaries. For example, often the government's chances of winning a riding can be enhanced by amputating sections which voted for the opposition in previous elections, and drowning them in neighboring ridings where the government has comfortable majorities.

It can be done by taking some of the surplus government votes in border sections of adjacent ridings and adding them to the riding where the government is weak.

All this is done, of course, in the name of ensuring more equitable rep. by pop. When a province, usually in the Maritimes or the Prairies, fails to keep pace with the rest of Canada in population growth, its representation in the Commons is reduced, but not below the constitutional minimum, which is the number of senators from that province. Seats to be abolished are picked with political care. They may be gerrymandered out of existence to help the government in other ridings. Or they may be picked because this is an easy way for the government to get rid of an effective political foe. John Diefenbaker, Tory opposition MP for Lake Centre, Sask., was gerrymandered out of the Commons in 1952, but he came back in 1957 as MP for Prince Albert, Sask. Also as prime minister.

The results of the 1961 census are being tabulated. Final population figures for the nation and individual provinces will be available in February. Figures for constituencies down to polling districts, which the Commons committee on redistribution requires, could be ready by April.

With an election in the offing and Conservative losses almost inevitable, redistribution would seem almost a heaven-sent opportunity for the Tories.

UNDERCUT BY KHRUSHCHEV SPEECH

East German 'Puppet' on Way Out?

BERLIN (AP) — Officials and commentators in West Berlin speculated today that Moscow may soon fire its East German puppet, Walter Ulbricht.

There was widespread belief that East German's chief of state would disappear from the scene in an effort to make direct negotiations with the East German regime more palatable to the West.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev dealt Ulbricht a bitter blow in his Kremlin speech Tuesday by abandoning the Dec. 31 deadline he had set for signing a peace treaty with East Germany.

The peace treaty is the main instrument for Khrushchev's threats against West Berlin. With it the Soviet Union threatens to turn over to the East Germans control of the West Berlin Allies' access routes to West Berlin, forcing them to negotiate with the East Germans they have so far refused to recognize or fight their way through if the East Germans try to block their traffic.

"A peace treaty before the end of the year" has been the keynote of all East German propaganda for months. It seemed almost as though Ulbricht had staked his career on it.

Ulbricht apparently has been trying to force the Kremlin's hand. Western observers said Khrushchev's speech abruptly put him back in his place, and like a true puppet he accepted the new line without any sign of hesitation.

Western diplomats listening to Khrushchev's speech were amused to notice Ulbricht "applauding his master like crazy after every period and every comma," the West Berlin newspaper Bz reported.

The East German boss is not only in trouble with his much-heralded timetable, one newspaper said, "he is likely to be slowly but surely removed from the scene because the Russians realize more and more they cannot expect Western statesmen to negotiate with him."

Fade, Fade, Fade Away...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Quite a lot is being written these days about the seasonal premieres of the television programs, new and old, that are going on the air this fall.

Thus far, however, I have not seen any reviews of the commercials.

I don't know why the TV critics have neglected the commercials because in some cases they are better than the programs. My favorite commercial of the new viewing season comes from a gasoline company.

If I heard it right, it says that a full tank of this brand will take you twice as far as half a tank.

That's what we need more of—honesty in advertising. Contrast it, if you please, to a shaving cream commercial that recently drew a complaint from the federal trade commission.

According to the FTC, an actor shaved with an "ordinary" cream to show why it was not as good as the sponsor's product. It turned out, however, that the "ordinary" lather was not a shaving cream at all.

The sponsor just mixed up some stuff that would give a foamy appearance and then dry out immediately after being applied to the actor's face.

This, I trust, was an isolated instance. I have spent considerable time lately observing the commercials being seen this fall and by and large they struck me as artistic triumphs.

West

I can't, of course, mention them all individually, but they give an over-all kaleidoscopic impression that goes something like this:

"I dreamed I burned the White House down in my many-form undershirt."

"If you've been dreaming more lately, but enjoying it less, then switch to the brand with the pure white opium filter. It has instant flaking action that lets you dream all night, even in the harshest detergents."

"There are 33 beans in every cup of new lager beer that comes from the land of sky-blue pleasant living. Take tea and see for yourself how great frozen orange juice used to taste. Aspirin tablets still do."

"Come all the way up to the new mental deodorant. It has a wide-track filter that spreads like the 70-cent spread. Camouflages grey, air softens your underarms and makes them mild, mild, mild."

"Washday worries got you down? Then cut your throat with the only razor blade that medicates while it penetrates. Severs jagged veins instantly upon contact and leaves no unpleasant after-taste."

"When stress and strain cause headache pain, gargle twice daily with the motor oil that three of four doctors recommend. It odorproofs your carburetor for 24 hours and makes carbon deposits fade, fade, fade away."

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Winter Ground Rules for Plants

For the benefit of the many newcomers to the coast from other parts of the country, we should make a few notes about the plants which are not to be left in the ground over winter. Our wonderful climate here rather lulls new gardeners with the feeling that anything grows, and anything goes. There is one garden which has changed hands several times in the past 10 years, and the planting of dahlias with it, gradually growing smaller each year. Some of the owners have taken them up in the fall, but the present one has cut down the stems and left the tubers in the ground.

I'm dying to stop the car and tell the folks they should lift the tubers and store them in a cool corner of the basement.

Some winters, gladioli, dahlias, and even tuberous begonias will live over in a sandy soil exposed to sun and sheltered from cold winds, but for best results and in average gardens all these tuberous and cormous plants should be lifted and stored indoors.

This week is about the limit of time for them to be outside, and anyway digging them up now will be easier than when the soil gets wetter.

Another plant which should not be expected to do well if left in the garden for winter is the chrysanthemum. Most of the better varieties and good colors are not winter hardy.

The roots (called "stoils" by the chrysanthemum growers) should be lifted after flowering and kept in a cold frame or cool (unheated) greenhouse where frost can be kept off with extra covers on cold nights.

The young shoots are taken in spring, rooted in frame or greenhouse, and set out as new plants to flower the same year.

WALL STREET TRADING

MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrials Score Slight Increases

Industrials were up by small margins today on both the Toronto and New York stock markets.

In late trading at Toronto Moore Corp. gained 3/4 to 49 1/2 in heavy volume, apparently on the road to recovery after its drop of the last few weeks.

Utilities, banks and financial institutions, steels and refining oils all had widespread fractional gains. Great Lakes Power gained 1/4 to reach a new high of 45. Speculators were high with Lake Dufault ahead 35 cents on a turnover of 151,768 shares.

Selective gains by blue chips marked trading on Wall Street. Pacific Gas and Electric was up half a dozen points on news of a 3-for-1 stock split and dividend boost. Dupont advanced around three points.

Steels, motors, building materials, farm implements and nonferrous metals were spotty. Ralls showed hardly any change.

AT TORONTO the base metals market was lower in the senior list with Denison, Consolidated Mining and Smelting.

Labrador and Campbell Chibougamau all down as much as 1/2 in light trading. Noranda however, gained 1/2 to 51 1/2.

Gold trading was light with Dome and McIntyre Porcupine up 1/2 and 1/4 respectively.

In weak western oil trading Home A, Hudson's Bay and Bailey Selburn A all dropped to 15 cents.

AT NEW YORK Walker Gooderham was up 1/2 on the Canadian list while Dome Mines gained 1/2 and Aluminum Ltd. and International Nickel 1/4 apiece.

Distillers Seagrams and Hudson Bay Mining took 1/4 losses.

American exchange prices were irregularly higher, while Tin was ahead 1/2, while smaller gains went to Canadian Marconi, Eureka, and Scurry Rainbow Oil. Brazilian Tracton was off 1/4.

AT MONTREAL prices continued narrowly mixed on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges today. Steels were lower, base metals higher, and other sections mixed. Trading was lighter.

AT LONDON the stock market was quiet and generally ahead today, although shipping shares fell off following profit warnings from P and O and Cunard.

Widespread gains were recorded in gilt-edged securities. Several leading industrials improved, while textiles, stores, electricals and motor issues were mostly higher.

Cunard shares slumped on an announcement that even a small dividend on the ordinary stock would have to be paid out of reserves.

Tin and gold shares moved ahead, while oils failed to maintain early firmness. Dollar stocks were irregular.

AT VANCOUVER trading was quiet with prices spotty during the morning. Con Potash moved at 74. Friday Mines traded at 46. Giant Mascot went at 58. Highland Bell was up to $2.75. North West Ventures was at 19. Western Mines moved at 27. Ocean Cement sold at $10.25. B.C. Forest Products was at 12. Alberta Distillers (vt.) moved at $2.10.

British and European imports in 1958 and 1959 had accounted for 18.9 and 24.3 per cent of the market respectively. Last year this edged up marginally to 24.5 per cent. Passenger cars from overseas showed the big leap in unit sales—up 10.4 per cent as compared with a rise of 3.5 per cent in North American cars.

Canadian Car Sales Set Record

OTTAWA (CP)—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports a record 523,188 motor vehicles were sold in 1960, up 4.1 per cent from the previous high of 502,626 in 1959.

Retail value reached a new peak at $1,574,827,000 or 2.2 per cent more than in 1959. New passenger cars accounted for the full increase.

Passenger car sales in 1960 totalled 447,771 units, an increase of 5.3 per cent. Dollar value at $1,289,073,000 was up 3.9 per cent. Sales of commercial vehicles tailed off by 2.8 per cent at 75,417 units and the value declined 4.5 per cent at $825,754,000.

Imports in 1958 and 1959 had accounted for 18.9 and 24.3 per cent of the market respectively. Last year this edged up marginally to 24.5 per cent. Passenger cars from overseas showed the big leap in unit sales—up 10.4 per cent as compared with a rise of 3.5 per cent in North American cars.

Roy Thomson Expands S.A. Holdings

MANCHESTER, England (CP)—The Guardian reports that Canadian publisher Roy Thomson has completed plans to take over seven more newspapers and one magazine in Africa.

Thomson already owns 91 newspapers in North America, Britain and Africa. The latest purchase is regarded as "the biggest newspaper deal ever in central Africa," the paper says.

It says the Thomson company will take control of Kacholola, the parent company of two newspaper publishing firms in the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

One of the firms is African Newspapers Limited of Salisbury, the largest publishing house in central Africa for newspapers aimed at African readers.

The other firm is the Blantyre Printing and Publishing Company which publishes the Blantyre Times in Nyasaland. Thomson's main competitor in the field will be Argus Press, which owns five dailies and four weeklies.

U.K. News Magazine Tried Again

LONDON (AP)—Topic, a British weekly news magazine, went on sale today. It is regarded as the biggest publishing gamble in Britain since the end of the Second World War.

On the cover was a photograph of Princess Margaret. Inside was a long and informative story about the princess and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon—and the baby they are expecting within three weeks.

FRIEND OF TONY Editorial director of Topic is Don Rick Elwes, a friend of Princess Margaret's husband. Editor of the magazine, which sells for two shillings, is Morley Richards, formerly news editor of Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express.

British news magazines have never survived. The last to try was News Review, which came out more than 20 years ago.

The initial printing was 150,000 copies. Within Topic's 62 pages was a fair amount of advertising.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—A new high price for rye for the crop year highlighted late trading activities on today's close of the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Aggressive buying from U.S. interests was the main reason for the advance, which gave all futures a rather strong undertone. No export business was in evidence in rye.

The opening decline of two to three cents in flax extended to five cents in late trading. Oats and barley continued a light, dull trade, with prices easier.

Overnight export loadings of wheat: Pakistan 482,000 bushels, United Kingdom 393,000, Belgium 37,000.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were unchanged from Wednesday.

Granduc Report to Give Little Cheer

By GORDON BELL
Times-Business Editor

The long-expected and eagerly-awaited report to shareholders of Granduc Mines Ltd. on results of drilling during the summer on the property 23 miles northwest of Stewart on the Portland Canal is not going to make very cheerful reading.

The report is expected to be in the hands of shareholders today or Friday but "insiders" with an advance tip-off had already started selling Wednesday and the price tumbled from $3.60 to $3.

While the Granduc drilling program is still going ahead, results of half a dozen holes completed to date are reported to show several blanks, several short holes and some findings of interest "for the future."

Prospect of putting the property into production in the near future—the factor which lifted the stock sharply in recent weeks—now seems extremely dim.

However, the professional traders will not likely take so pessimistic a view of the report. They, in fact, will find a negative report encouraging rather than otherwise.

Their interpretation will be that the drilling program has proved up extensions to the property and that the very fact work is to continue over winter are signs that Newmont Mining Ltd., which controls Granduc, is as interested in the property as ever.

Granduc has been extremely careful not to reveal any information about its operation and has steadfastly refused to confirm or deny the multitude of rumors which have arisen, largely because of the close secrecy maintained by the company.

And many shareholders, who had been led to expect that this report would finally give them some information on Granduc progress are going to feel they have been short-changed by this very non-committal report.

Placer Developments Ltd., long-established Vancouver mining firm with far-flung interests in Australia, Texas, Alaska, New Guinea, Eastern Canada and in B.C.—including a 44.6 per cent interest in Craigmont—has offered to purchase all the assets of Bulolo Gold Dredging Ltd.

Placer, already holds 20 per cent of the stock of Bulolo, rich New Guinea gold producer, and has offered 187,602 shares of Placer for the balance. Bulolo directors have recommended that the offer be accepted.

Bulolo would be left with 333,334 shares of Placer as its total assets and the deal would give Bulolo one share of Placer to distribute for each three shares of Bulolo held. Distribution will take place without delay if the offer is accepted.

Although Bulolo shareholders would suffer a dividend loss through the transaction, they would make a good capital gain. At the time the offer was made Bulolo was trading at $6.25, Placer at $23.50.

Issue date for the Magna Pipe Line Ltd. offering is expected to be next Monday.

The offering is expected to be a unit of one common share and one-quarter warrant at $8. Prudential Petroleum Ltd. of Vancouver is turning to mining with an optioned 25 claim silver, lead, zinc property east of Cominco's Bluebell mine on the east shore of Kootenay Lake.

Exploration is being financed through an underwriting agreement with Collingwood Investments Ltd., covering 1,000,000 shares at prices ranging from 10 cents to 17½ cents.

Toronto-Dominion Bank shareholders will be asked to authorize an increase of capital stock to 3,000,000 shares as all the present authorized 3,000,000 shares are issued. There are no immediate plans to issue more stock.

Manufacturers' Shipments Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Shipments by Canadian manufacturers in August rose 3.1 per cent in value to an estimated $2,037,800,000 from $1,976,200,800 in the corresponding month last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has reported.

In the first eight months of 1961, shipments increased in value to $15,514,000,000, up 2 per cent compared with $15,477,000 a year ago.

RETIREMENT of former president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank, A. C. Ashworth of Toronto, has been appointed as Ontario member of the board of directors of the Bank of Canada. Finance Minister Fleming announced the appointment. Ashworth, 68, whose term will end Feb. 28, 1964, fills the vacancy on the board created by the resignation earlier this year of J. T. Bryden.

Volkswagen Settles Court Case

BONN (Reuters)—Germans who invested money in Hitler's prewar "people's car" saving scheme will be allowed to buy a Volkswagen for as much as 600 marks ($150) less than the retail price, the Volkswagen company has announced.

The settlement is the result of a court action begun in 1950 by Karl Stolz and Rudolf Meischner, subscribers to Hitler's plan which was designed to provide a car for every German family for 1,000 reichsmarks about $400 prewar.

The settlement proposed by Volkswagen chief Heinz Nordhoff, which provides an alternative of up to 100 marks ($25) for those who do not want a car, was approved by federal court representatives and accepted by the claimants.

The allowance or rebate will depend on the amount invested, up to 1,000 reichsmarks.

The Volkswagen Company was founded by Hitler's Nazi party in 1938 and partly financed by subscriber savings.

The company was dissolved by the Allies after the Second World War and given to the state of Lower Saxony.

It continued as a nationalized concern until August, 1960, when 60 per cent of its shares were offered to the public, with Saxony and the federal government each retaining 20 per cent of the 600,000,000-mark (about $150,000,000) capital.

10-DAY TRADE FAIR IN GHANA

Canada Will Woo Africans

ACCRA, Ghana (CP)—Canadian beer and movies are planned as crowd-pullers for a 10-day trade fair to be put on by Canada here next February.

The fair will be part of a one-two punch aimed at eventually cracking the potentially big export market in West Africa. It will make a 10-day stand in Lagos, Nigeria, before moving to a 6½-acre site in front of Ghana's Parliament Building.

Canadian exporters can expect to find plenty of competition in their efforts to sell in this part of the world.

A Communist Chinese trade fair was on when Trade Minister Hees was attending the Commonwealth economic ministers' conference and he dropped in for a look at what the competition was offering.

Compared with what Canada is planning, the Chinese exhibition seemed unimaginative. The main crowd attractions were Chinese music and teams of Chinese, operating industrial machinery.

OLD-FASHIONED

Deputy Trade Minister James A. Roberts, who knows the textile industry, described a Chinese spinning frame as old-fashioned.

Outside was a grain combine, antiquated by Canadian standards and out of place in a country that doesn't grow the kind of crops it is made for.

Canadians here aren't writing off the Chinese effort, however. Along with luxury goods—far out of the reach of the average Ghanaian—were items such as inexpensive plows, treadle-driven sewing machines and gasoline lamps patterned after a Canadian model that is popular in Africa.

Another competitor for Canada is the United States, holding a trade fair in November. The Americans plan exhibits such as daily dismantling and erection of a prefabricated house, and an automatic laundry that will wash Ghanaian shirts while their owners tour the exhibits.

Moreover, Canadian goods must compete on equal tariff terms with American products. Commonwealth tariff preferences don't exist here.

The fair, scheduled for Feb. 14, will be the first exclusively Canadian. More than 80 firms are planning to exhibit their wares. This makes Canadian trade commissioner Kevin Osmond happy.

ISLAND DIGEST

8 Victoria Daily Times THURS., OCT. 19, 1961

FUR-COATED MOUNTIE JOINS NANAIMO STAFF

NANAIMO (CP)—The latest addition to Nanaimo's RCMP detachment arrived from Nelson division Wednesday wearing only a fur coat. He draws no pay except his board, has no rank, and answers to the name of Duke. Duke is one of the RCMP dogs which have gained renown for their process at tracking and carrying out other police duties. Duke arrived with his master, Constable M. I. Murton, for general duties in the Nanaimo area.

Cowichan Council Holds at 4 Members

NORTH COWICHAN—Municipal council Wednesday declined to take action to expand the council from four to six members despite recommendations for the change from Chemainus, Crofton Chamber of Commerce and Chemainus Ratepayers' Association. Reeve Donald Morton said that while he did not like to bring local politics into the matter, it appeared that the requests had some connection with people running for election to council in December. 'Chemainus Ratepayers' Association has named two candidates, and the municipality was split earlier this year in a controversy over the proposed new Cowichan district hospital. Coun. W. T. Bowles of Chemainus said the change would add $2,000 per year to municipal expenses, and questioned whether the extra expense would be justified. Couns. Tony Staples, Maple Bay, and Gerry Smith, Chemainus, indicated they are not overworked, and Coun. Staples added that a larger council would produce "even more talk than now." Council stood by an earlier decision to do nothing about an expanded council until next spring, but agreed to ask for expressions of opinion from the public at December stewardship meetings.

Open House By Student Soldiers

Some 75 high school students taking part in the Young Soldiers Training Plan will hold an open house in the Bay Street Armory Saturday at 10 a.m. when members of the public will be able to see them in action. Various units of 25 Militia Group will be on hand to give demonstrations.

Col. L. W. Johnson, commander 25 Militia Group will officially open the proceedings and the band of the 5th Medium Artillery Battery will be in attendance. The public will see a gun drill; a Signal Corps demonstration of wireless equipment and a small scale national survival exercise carried out by members of the Canadian Scottish.

Mobile workshop and recovery vehicle of the 40th Technical Squadron will be on display and refreshments will be served by the Service Corps.

Water Request Points To Union Bay Pulp Mill

UNION BAY—Completion of a market survey to the company's satisfaction will decide the start of a proposed Canadian Collieries Resources Ltd. pulp mill here.

For several years the rumor of a pulp mill in this area has built up the hopes of local residents, but the same hopes have been dashed many times as nothing was done.

However, a local resident has received a letter requesting an easement on his property for a water line for the stated purpose of serving a pulp mill.

Further, the company has arranged a trade of land for the site of Union Bay Community Hall and baseball park which would give it ownership of an unbroken stretch of waterfront land here.

DEMOLITION

Not only did it arrange the trade, but it has begun demolition of shacks on the alternate site preparatory to moving the big community Hall.

Collieries officials have said on two recent occasions that there will be nothing new in pulp mill plans until market surveys are completed.

A pulp mill would give a tremendous economic boost to what has become a depressed area.

COAL PORT

Years ago Union Bay thrived as the shipping port for coal taken from the Cumberland district mines, and as the site of the stores and machine shops serving the mines and accompanying facilities.

Logging took up some of the slack when the T-Sable River Mine was turned over to a three-man company which planned on mining less than 50 per cent of normal production, but even logging is slowing down in the area.

THREE MILLS

A pulp mill would fit well into the company's present operations, which include three mills producing 80,000, 000 board feet of lumber per year, shingles, and plywood, and 170,000 acres of timber land.

It also retains certain coal interests, oil lands, and two iron ore properties on Vancouver Island.

View Royal Scouts Plan Bottle Drive

View Royal Scout and Cub Association will sponsor a bottle drive Saturday, starting at 9:30 a.m., and carrying on until finished at about noon.

Up to 40 boys in uniform will take part in the drive, and parents are lending cars for pickups.

The group will take all kinds of bottles and jars; a committee spokesman said. There are ready sales for beer and soft drink bottles, some liquor bottles, local peanut butter jars and cans, and gallon and half-gallon jugs, he said, "and we don't mind taking anything else. We just get rid of those we can't sell."

Area to be covered will be that between Craigflower Bridge, Parsons Bridge, and Trans-Canada Highway.

Gas Station Bid Refused

NANAIMO—City council rejected an application by Home Oil Distributors to rezone a lot at Terminal Avenue and Townsite Road for construction of a service station.

Action was taken after Nanaimo Automotive Retailers Association told council the city already has twice as many service stations as it can support.

Long-Delayed Fire Hall Work Gets Under Way

GANGES—After several delays, the Salt Spring Island fire hall is at last under construction opposite the Cenotaph here.

N. Bowden is in charge of building operations. The last delay was caused by an unsuccessful move by Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce to have the area set aside as a park.

Suspended Sentence On Cheque Charges

NANAIMO (CP)—Mrs. Diana Severud, 23, formerly of New Westminster, was given a suspended sentence of two years Wednesday on charges of uttering worthless cheques.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor Potts also ordered the woman to post a $500 bond and voluntarily take psychiatric treatment. Restitution of the money represented by the forged cheques is to be made in full.

MAYOR PETE MAFFEO

DISTRIBUTION of mainland goods on Vancouver Island will continue to be through Nanaimo, Mayor Pete Maffeo said here this week in regard to a report that Saanich has plans to become the hub of the Island. "I don't blame my friend Reeve George Chatterton for trying to do the best he can for his municipality, but geography is on our side," Mayor Maffeo said.

In Six Weeks Challenge Cup For Camera Club

GANGES—Gulf Islands Camera Club, which is planning its second annual "Pic-turama" to be held Nov. 24 and 25, has announced a perpetual challenge cup will be offered for the best picture in the colored section. Prizes will also be given for the top black and white picture and for the best entry in the children's section.

Sewer System Finished

DUNCAN—The $170,000 sewer system now under construction in the city is 60 per cent completed and will be finished in about six weeks, according to Russell E. Potter, Victoria, consulting engineer for Duncan.

Two 7½-acre lagoons are completed, and will be flanked by poplar trees. In these ponds sewage will act as fertilizer to grow an algae which absorbs carbon dioxide and gives off oxygen.

The system will serve 531 houses, and already has been tested and found watertight. As a result, the system will work perfectly even though ground water may reach the surface and even cover manholes.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING STIMULATES BUYING

During the last month 160 men have been laid off at HMC Dockyard, Victoria. Labor Council was told Wednesday, and a further "fairly extensive" lay-off list is being prepared.

Many of the men affected have worked at the dockyard for six or seven years, claimed Fred Bevis, electrical union delegate.

"It's only October and the layoffs are already coming," he said. "Usually they wait until Christmas and make a present of it."

His information tied in with the council's concern over winter employment prospects at Victoria shipyards. The council's opposition has already been expressed to RCN refit contracts being awarded to outside yards.

Mr. Bevis pointed out that because there are no profits involved, the navy yard "does a good economical job." Private shipyards, he said, are permitted to go after contracts of other types of work but the navy yard is allowed to do only government work.

LETTERS SENT
The council has sent letters to local MPs and government departments — including the Canadian maritime commission — urging that steps be taken to meet the unemployment threat in local shipyards. One measure suggested was the bringing forward of starting dates on navy refit contracts to take in the expected slack period at the dockyards during January, February and March.

Defence Minister Harkness, chairman of the commission, replied but stated he could give no assurance that forthcoming navy refits would be carried out in-Victoria.

"Of course, both Victoria yards will be able to bid for the contracts," he added.

The starting date for conversion work on the navy's St. Laurent class destroyers can not be brought forward because plans will not be completed before the beginning of 1962, Mr. Harkness said.

The council has replied to the minister suggesting that starting dates for refits of frigate class vessels could be advanced as not much preparation is involved.

Local Workers Asked On Local Building

Victoria Labor Council Wednesday threw its support behind a resolution urging that local labor be used on local construction projects when available.

The resolution is aimed at hospital boards, school boards and similar public bodies who raise money for their construction projects through local taxation.

"It's a ridiculous situation," said council second vice-president Victor Midgley. "Labor is being brought in from outside points and yet there are workmen walking the streets here."

He cited Victoria's new courthouse as an example of a project using a considerable amount of outside labor.

Mr. Midgley also attacked private developers of motels.

Delegates to Victoria Labor Council agreed Wednesday to keep an eye on the provincial government's probe into charges that Victoria City Council's questions on race and religion on employment application forms are contrary to the B.C. Fair Employment Practices Act.

Meanwhile, Alderman Rev. J. L. W. McLean was singled out for attack by delegates for voting against a resolution to end the practice at a recent city council meeting.

"The attitude taken by Mr. McLean is beyond my understanding," said delegate Percy Raymond. Other delegates expressed similar opinions on the minister's action.

"The council is elected to serve all the people of Victoria, not just a few of them," said delegate Fred Bevis. "And so far as I know they are not intended to be an employment agency."

"I think it is quite sad that we elected people of this calibre," he said.

McNeeley Blends Dreams, Superstition, Psychiatry

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Irish Tom McNeeley's life today is a crazy, mixed-up thing of genealogy and dreams, psychiatry and superstition.

McNeeley is the 24-year-old Boston strong boy who challenges Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight crown at Toronto on December 4. He is a 9-to-1 underdog on the basis of inexperience.

But the six-foot two-inch 200-pounder counts on the fists which have produced 18 knockouts in 23 straight pro victories to equalize the situation.

"John L. was my mother's father's second cousin," explained the former-Michigan State tackle with the light brown crew cut. "And when I was a kid, I had to fight. All the kids called me 'Faiso' and tried to make me run. I wouldn't run."

Thus it was that, when he turned pro, McNeeley went at it as if he still was an alley fighter gone berserk. They had trouble stopping him at the bell and his manager, Pete Fuller, finally sent him to a psychiatrist.

"I thought they were only for nuts, or something like that," McNeeley grinned. "But I went and I think it helped. Now I fight with a controlled fury."

It isn't, he hastened to add, that he delights in punishing an opponent.

"As a matter of fact," he recounted, "I go to church before a fight and pray that nothing will happen to my opponent. To me, either."

McNeeley is undecided whether he will pray for Patterson.

"I keep thinking how hard it has been to get him in the ring," he grimaced. "They kept putting us off, with one thing and another. Now it's all signed up and I hope to make my dream finally come through."

This dream is one he had right after the bout became a distinct probability.

"I woke up in a sweat," he remembered. "In my dream, my corner was going wild with delight. I could see Patterson being held upright on his stool and my hand was being raised in victory. I knew I'd been in a hard fight, but I'd won."

McNeeley admits cautiously to "a certain amount of superstition."

"I always visit the zoo just before a fight," he said. "I did that before my first fight and I've done it ever since and haven't been beaten yet. Also

I always eat the same things the day of the fight and go through a set routine which never varies."

There is a suspicion in the fight mob that dreams and tigers in the zoo aside, McNeeley is in the position of a man about to be fed to the lions.

The bout was moved out of his native heath because Cus D'Amato, manager of Patterson, insisted on naming all the conditions for the fight except the round in which it would end. McNeeley's manager was asked to submit a list of six acceptable referees for the Toronto embroglio and with the faith of an Alice in Wonderland decided that this was outside his province. D'Amato naturally submitted his list.

The ethereal faith in the McNeeley camp is that the referee and judges won't matter if Patterson is flat on his back. Which brings you back, at least, to dreams and psychiatry.

BILL WILLIAMS TOPS ROOKIE POLL IN NL

NEW YORK (UPI)—Billy Williams, 23-year-old Alabama-born outfielder who hit .278 for Chicago Cubs, was named the National League's Rookie of the Year today by the United Press International's board of baseball experts.

Williams, who went barnstorming with Hank Aaron and Satchel Paige when he was only 16 years old, received the votes of 20 of the 36 experts who took part in the voting. Joe Torre, 19-year-old Milwaukee Brave catcher, was a distant second with five votes.

Ken Hunt of Cincinnati Reds was third with four votes, Willie Davis of Los Angeles Dodgers had three and Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia Phillies and Leo Cardenas of the Reds had two each.

Moss' Beef Gets Halter Heave-Ho

WINNIPEG (CP)—Commissioner Sydney Halter, of the Canadian Football League, ruled that import halfback Carver Shannon is eligible to play for Hamilton Tiger-Cats this year.

"Shannon is on the Hamilton roster and is eligible to play Canadian football," Mr. Halter said.

He confirmed that Shannon had signed a standard 1961 playing contract with Hamilton which contains an option clause for his 1962 services.

The commissioner said that if the Cats have put themselves in a position where they will try to get Shannon out of the league next year without going through the waiver procedure, then the matter will be dealt with then as a breach of league regulations.

MOSS COMPLAINED

The commissioner's ruling followed a complaint from Montreal Alouettes' coach Perry Moss.

Moss claims that Shannon, who Hamilton recently acquired from Winnipeg Blue Bombers, is the property of Los Angeles Rams and should not be playing with the Tiger-Cats.

However, the commissioner's ruling means that Shannon will be eligible to play in Hamilton's Eastern Conference game against Montreal, in Hamilton, Sunday.

Meanwhile Jake Gaudaur, Ticats' president and general manager, and Elroy Hirsch, general manager of the National Football League Rams, are apparently at odds.

Gaudaur said the Rams have agreed that Shannon would go on waivers after this season.

If no other Canadian club claims him then he would go to Los Angeles under a 1962 contract he has signed with the club.

If another CFL club claims Shannon, then the waivers would be withdrawn, Shannon would stay with Hamilton and the club would purchase his contract from Los Angeles.

But the Toronto Globe and Mail quoted Hirsch Wednesday as saying that no such deal has been made.

Familiar Faces Aplenty In 'New Look' Puck Loop

RON JAY
... with Independents

There's a new look to the makeup of the Vancouver Island Intermediate Hockey League, but most of the players' names will hit a familiar ring when the five-team circuit opens: the door on a new season Saturday night.

The Island (nee Commercial) Amateur Hockey League gets under way with Victoria Independents facing Port Alberni and Navy meeting Nanaimo in the doubleheader at Memorial Arena.

Port Alberni, Navy and Independents helped make up the Commercial League last year. Gone is the Pattersons entry, but now in the fold are Nanaimo and Port Alberni.

Navy, the defending league champion, returns with 11 players back from last season. The list includes the league's leading scorer, Cliff Uhren, and the top netminder, Art Morton. Uhren scored 37 goals in 21 games last year.

Also back with the Sailors, coached by L-CDR E. Webber, are John Merrifield, Cliff Johnson, Gerry Anderson, Emil Chobater, Dave Davidson, Jock McEvoy, Al Jones, Ben Webber and Ron Cпок.

Newcomers from Eastern Canada are Lou Darche and Mike Veshara.

Nanaimo rates as the team most likely to depose Navy as league champions.

The Up-Island club, coached by veteran Red Carr, has a standout netminder in Bob Lumley and a flock of holdovers from its Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey League entry of last year.

Bill Haslam, Bruno Furlan, Lou Shreeman and Gordie Williams will play defence for Nanaimo. Forwards include Earl Robinson, Joe Zuback, Stan Berry, Jim Peterson, Norval Wheatcroft, Danny Zoloh, Don Smith, Don Wakelyn and Len Slogar.

The strength of Nanaimo may be attested by the fact that Carr has loaned five veteran Nanaimo players to Port Alberni for the season.

Slated to join the Ports are Red Wilgrees, Jim Middleton, Buddy Dumont, Len Plensky and Arnie Dugan.

YOUNGEST ENTRY

Independents must rate as the league's youngest entry. Goalender Ron Griffin, back for another season; Joe Janarelli Jr. and Toby Wilson all are in the junior category.

Janarelli, son of the Esquimalt Arena manager; Ron Marshall, Bob Anderson and Ron Jay will form Independents' defence. Wilson, Al Tarbett, Keith Lawrence, Glen Cividin, Bill Helgesen, Art Green, Moe Cunningham, Eddie Varga and Gary Barlow are the forwards.

George McPherson coaches the Independent entry.

Independents and Port Alberni open Saturday's doubleheader at 7:30. Navy and Nanaimo clash at 9.

Roodbol's Goal Gives Vics Boost Victory

Kees Roodbol used his noodle Wednesday and Victoria High won a soccer game.

Roodbol headed in a shot midway through the second half to give Vic High a 3-2 inter-high senior "A" soccer win over Oak Bay.

Dirk Prinzenberg put Victoria ahead 1-0 but Oak Bay took command on goals by Don McCormick. Ash Waldal tied the game just before the half.

Mount View defeated Esquimalt 2-1 in junior league action.

New Entries Invited By Volleyball Loop

Victoria Men's Volleyball League, which last winter operated as an eight-team loop, is making plans for its second season.

Team officials interested in entering a club in the league may obtain information from Art Burgess at the YMCA. The circuit is now affiliated with the B.C. Volleyball Association.

BONER BY REFEREE

Lions Didn't Rate Penalty

VANCOUVER (CP)—Official game films show British Columbia Lions were not offside on a last-minute play Monday night when a penalty wiped out a 26-yard gain and removed their last hope of a tie or a victory in their Western Football Conference game with Winnipeg.

The matter came up as reporters viewed the films with the Lions coaching staff.

The Lions, whose protest of an earlier loss to Winnipeg Blue Bombers on grounds an official changed his decision on a field goal call was thrown out by commissioner Sydney Halter Wednesday, said there will be no protest of the Monday game.

The play in question came with 31 seconds left in the Monday night game, won 16-15 by Bombers.

GAINED 26 YARDS

Lions had gained 26 yards to the Winnipeg 30 on a screen pass from Joe Kapp to By Bailey and might have been able to kick for a single point or a field goal had the play not been called back on an offside penalty.

Game films show that end Dick Johnson, named as the man who went offside on the play, didn't cross the line of scrimmage until after the ball was snapped.

JUDGMENT CALL

Lions said the play comes under the category of judgment calls and as such is not a valid matter for protest.

"I've screamed my last scream about refereeing," said head coach Dave Skrein. "But I'm amazed that these things seem to happen on the most important plays of the game. The game films show other off-sides during the game by both teams but they weren't called."

"I only hope that we've had all our bad calls this year and we're more fortunate next year."

B.C. PUCK BOSS SAYS:

Trail Club Erred In Interpretation

The president of the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association said here today that Trail Smoke Eaters had "misinterpreted" an invitation concerning a hockey tour of Europe next year.

Ivan Temple said Smoke Eaters had been invited to apply "along with any other senior club in Canada" to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for consideration as the team to make the tour, which has yet to be confirmed.

Instead, said Temple, the world champion Smoke Eaters, interpreted the offer by Jimmy Anderson, secretary-treasurer of the CAHA, as a direct invitation to go on tour.

FOUR OTHERS

Four other clubs were also invited by the CAHA to make application which the CAHA would consider, he said.

FRANCE BLANKED

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — Belgium defeated France 3-0 Wednesday night in an international soccer game.

They are Port Arthur Bears, Abitibi-Eskimos, Moose Jaw PlaMors and Winnipeg Maroons. Temple said Vernon would also be asked if they would like to apply. Deadline for applications is Oct. 24.

At Trail, Smoke Eaters' manager Ugo Deblasio said his club had been invited by B.C. representatives of the CAHA. "I don't know if they have been disowned by the CAHA or not, but as far as we were concerned this was an official invitation on behalf of the CAHA."

'SHABBY HANDLING'

His remarks were prompted by a statement Tuesday by Secretary - manager Gordon Jukes of Melville, Sask., that four teams had asked permission to make the European tour and that Trail Smoke Eaters was not one of them.

Jukes was quoted as saying reports that the Smoke Eaters had been invited to make the trip were unfounded.

"I telephoned Mr. Jukes Tuesday night to complain about the shabby handling of this entire affair," Deblasio said Wednesday.

"We were asked to consider making this trip. If this is not an official invitation, then I take it for granted B.C. representatives of the CAHA have no say in any of the association's affairs."

Will Thompson Get New Pilot For Supertest?

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Owner-designer Jim Thompson, still stunned by the death of his champion driver, isn't sure whether Miss Supertest III will try next summer to keep the Harmsworth Trophy in Canada for a fourth successive year.

"I haven't had a chance to think about it," said the 35-year-old oil company president when asked about his plans for defending the trophy, emblematic of the world championship for unlimited hydroplane racing.

Nor has he considered a driver to replace Bob Hayward, who died in the cockpit of Miss Supertest II, an older sister of the trophy winner, when it flipped over during a race on the Detroit River Sept. 10.

Hayward, part-time chicken farmer from Embro, Ont., drove Miss Supertest to victory in the 1959 Harmsworth races on the Detroit River to end a 39-year reign by United States craft and culminate seven years of preparation by Thompson.

Thompson first thought of trying to win the Harmsworth for Canada in 1950 after E. Q. Wilson made his second unsuccessful attempt to wrest it from the U.S.

BOUGHT MISS CANADAS

At the time, Thompson was no stranger to boats. He had operated a sailboat before he was old enough to attend public school and had watched Harmsworth races since he was nine when his father, J. Gordon Thompson, took him to see the 1933 race at Detroit.

Wilson retired from racing in 1952 and sold the Miss Canada boats to Thompson.

Thompson changed the name of Miss Canada IV to Miss Supertest and after two years of experiments—he is a graduate mechanical engineer—he was convinced of the need of a new boat of different design.

He had Miss Supertest II built and fitted it with Rolls-Royce engines.

Art Ashbury of Ox Tongue Lake, Ont., drove the boat to a world speed record of 184.54 miles an hour at Picton, Ont., in 1957.

ENGINE NOT DAMAGED

In the spring of that year the stocky, affable Hayward had joined the Miss Supertest II crew. Hayward, former outboard racer, was invited by Thompson to take the boat on a test run. He was hooked and became Thompson's regular driver.

Using the same engines, Thompson had Miss Supertest III built. This was the combination to win the Harmsworth and Hayward did it in 1959, defending successfully in 1960 and 1961 at Picton.

The craft in which Hayward died carried the same Rolls-Royce engine that powered Miss Supertest III. While the feather weight hull was wrecked in the accident, the power plant was salvaged undamaged to race again if Thompson so decides.

WATKINS, GLEN, N.Y. (NEA)—The most distinguished collection of automobiles ever seen in the United States was trundled noisily to the starting line outside of Watkins-Glen.

Charley Lytle, elder statesman of sports car racing, was happy as a clam at high tide. The reason for Lytle's exuberance was that he was the course marshal of the 1961 American Grand Prix.

The 230-mile event was run for the first time on a 2.3-mile private roadway which winds in the lyrical setting of the Lake Seneca hills hard by this upstate New York resort town.

The big heat attracted the world's archangels of auto racing. The field of 19 included Stirling Moss, English maestro of the wheel, and two-time international champion, Jack Brabham of Australia. It was won by Innes Ireland of Scotland, who wound up quaffing bubbly water out of the victory trophy.

Ireland drove his factory-entered Formula 1 Lotus to victory with an average speed of 103.2 miles per hour.

The cars had an Indianapolis Speedway appearance, but housed smaller engines. The course is laid out around curves, over hills and is fraught with the usual perils of cross-country motor racing.

Marshal Lytle, 55, of Sharon, Pa., speculated on the future of international auto racing in this country.

"Those 50,000 or so people lining the track meant that we would just about break even—even if they had all paid $1 a head," said Lytle. "Thousands drove the 270 miles from New York. A slew of them who came the night before couldn't find a place to stay around these small towns. So you found guys sleeping in the front seats of $6,000 sports cars."

"They knew they'd see racing they could never find unless they went to Europe. But, actually, there just isn't tendance of 50,000 is great for any sports event. But considering the cost of staging the race, it's tough and goes financially. In Europe they draw twice that, and without the huge expense.

"It costs $100,000 to bring the cars and crews here. One rainy day with the fans at home watching television and you're murdered!"

The promoters were in the corporate person of the Watkins Glen Grand Prix Corporation, a nonprofit organization of sportsmen. Any income above operating costs goes to a nearby hospital.

Standards for the conduct of the race and for car specifications are rigidly set by the Federation Internationale de l'Automobile, or FIA.

Innes Ireland bombing across the finish line at 130 miles an hour was a sight long to be remembered.

The 1961 American Grand Prix was a truly precise and classic sports event even though it was not a howling financial success.

And that happened to be the main object of the dedicated aficionados at the Glen.

50,000 TO BREAK EVEN

American Grand Prix Costly Luxury

By JERRY SHEEHAN
WATKINS, GLEN, N.Y. (NEA)—The most distinguished collection of automobiles ever seen in the United States was trundled noisily to the starting line outside of Watkins-Glen.

Charley Lytle, elder statesman of sports car racing, was happy as a clam at high tide. The reason for Lytle's exuberance was that he was the course marshal of the 1961 American Grand Prix.

The 230-mile event was run for the first time on a 2.3-mile private roadway which winds in the lyrical setting of the Lake Seneca hills hard by this upstate New York resort town.

The big heat attracted the world's archangels of auto racing. The field of 19 included Stirling Moss, English maestro of the wheel, and two-time international champion, Jack Brabham of Australia. It was won by Innes Ireland of Scotland, who wound up quaffing bubbly water out of the victory trophy.

Ireland drove his factory-entered Formula 1 Lotus to victory with an average speed of 103.2 miles per hour.

The cars had an Indianapolis Speedway appearance, but housed smaller engines. The course is laid out around curves, over hills and is fraught with the usual perils of cross-country motor racing.

Marshal Lytle, 55, of Sharon, Pa., speculated on the future of international auto racing in this country.

"Those 50,000 or so people lining the track meant that we would just about break even—even if they had all paid $1 a head," said Lytle. "Thousands drove the 270 miles from New York. A slew of them who came the night before couldn't find a place to stay around these small towns. So you found guys sleeping in the front seats of $6,000 sports cars."

"They knew they'd see racing they could never find unless they went to Europe. But, actually, there just isn't tendance of 50,000 is great for any sports event. But considering the cost of staging the race, it's tough and goes financially. In Europe they draw twice that, and without the huge expense.

"It costs $100,000 to bring the cars and crews here. One rainy day with the fans at home watching television and you're murdered!"

The promoters were in the corporate person of the Watkins Glen Grand Prix Corporation, a nonprofit organization of sportsmen. Any income above operating costs goes to a nearby hospital.

Standards for the conduct of the race and for car specifications are rigidly set by the Federation Internationale de l'Automobile, or FIA.

Innes Ireland bombing across the finish line at 130 miles an hour was a sight long to be remembered.

The 1961 American Grand Prix was a truly precise and classic sports event even though it was not a howling financial success.

PARIS POLICE CLUBS DRIVE OFF ALGERIANS

PARIS (AP) — Thousands of Algerians swarmed into the streets of Greater Paris again Tuesday night and clashed with reinforced riot police. Mass deportations of Algerians to North Africa as chronic trouble-makers begin today.

An estimated 4,000 Algerians gathering to march here fought a savage battle with riot squads near the rail station of suburban Nanterre just west of Paris.

Club-swinging police drove off the Algerians in a hail of gunfire and captured more than 30 rioters by the end of the fighting.

Missing Vancouver Lawyer's Car Found

KELLER FERRY, Wash. (AP) — Led to the scene by an unsigned letter, searchers Wednesday recovered a compact car with Canadian plates from the Columbia River but could find no trace of the owner, an attorney from Vancouver, B.C.

The 1961 Falcon sedan was located in about 75 feet of murky water, 80 feet from shore where an arm of the Columbia joins the Sandpoll River about a mile north of Keller Ferry.

The vehicle was travelling south on the Republic-Wilbur highway when it veered off to

Brutality By Police Charged

LONDON (Reuters) — The British Council for Civil Liberties called Wednesday for a public inquiry into alleged police brutality during a ban-the-bomb demonstration in London's Trafalgar Square last month.

The council published a dossier of incidents in which it accused policemen of slapping, kicking and beating up anti-nuclear demonstrators.

Some demonstrators were dragged face down to waiting police vans and others were thrown into the square's renowned fountains, it said.

About 1,300 demonstrators were arrested during the rally, which had been banned by a special police order. The rally was called by the Committee of 100, an anti-nuclear group.

College Appeal Canvassers Find It Takes All Kinds

By LESLIE MILLIN
Times College Correspondent

"We made $2,000, did we? That's nice. But I still feel sorry for some of the people who donated. I felt like giving them some of what I'd already collected."

This was the reaction of at least one of the more than 200 Victoria College students who canvassed three residential areas on Wednesday evening for the United Appeal.

Average donation in the areas—eastern Saanich, Cordova Bay, and southern Saanich—was slightly under $10, although some individuals brought back as much as $45 in cash. Those who secured both cash and pledges did considerably better.

But

"There was one house that we came to," recalls one team captain, "where every light went out just as we approached. We gave up after a while on that one—the householder didn't seem to want us."

"One old lady scraped around in her purse and found two dimes which she gave me," recounts another.

"She looked as if she was pretty hard up. I felt like giving them back to her, along with everything else I'd collected."

While the canvassers were out making their rounds, preparations were being made at the Gordon Head campus of the college for a dance, all proceeds to go to the United Appeal.

Students unable to canvass, some of them because of evening lectures and jobs, were thus able to contribute to the college's program of aid to the United Appeal, which has so far included a driftwood-selling bee at Willows Beach that netted the appeal $100.

As the footsore canvassers added to their blisters by twirling around the dance floor, United Appeal residential canvass chairman Floyd Fairclough, who is also director of the university development board, retired with his staff to count proceeds of the night's efforts, and student officials were notified within two hours.

Everyone seemed pleased with the result.

Many of the evening's memories were heartening or amusing ones, as canvassers recalled how they fell into ditches in the dark, were chased by dogs, and met elderly gentlemen in apparently dire financial straits who were able to slip them big wads of money.

One canvasser was given nearly $15 by an old lady who gave him something to remember her by.

CHILD STAR GOES WRONG

'Everything He Wanted'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bobby Driscoll, a one-time child movie star who had everything he wanted and nothing he needed, is starting the long road back from nowhere.

Driscoll was committed Wednesday to the state narcotics rehabilitation centre at Chino, Calif., where he must spend at least six months.

Driscoll was arrested recently on a bad cheque charge. It was another in a series of arrests — for disturbing the peace, brawling and narcotics violations — that began about seven years ago when his movie career started to fade.

Once Driscoll was making more than $50,000 a year.

TALKS TO REPORTERS

What happened to him? Driscoll isn't certain, but he gave this explanation to reporters outside the courtroom:

"I had everything... working steadily with good parts. Then I started putting all my spare time in my arm."

"I'm not really sure why I started using narcotics. I was 17 when I first experimented with the stuff. In no time at all I was using whatever was available... mostly heroin, because I had the money to pay for it."

Driscoll said he has spent all the money he earned, except what his parents had used wisely.

"I'm not sure how much extra, but I'm certain it's been considerably more than $100,000. During all this time I've hurt a lot of people... especially my parents, my wife, my children and myself."

He is separated from his wife. They have three children.

(BB PLUS) "TWO LOVES"
Capitol—MGM's adaptation of Sylvia Ashton-Warner's novel, "The Spinsters", is disappointing because it should have emerged much better than it did. At the beginning it seemed to have everything.

There is, for instance, United States school marm Shirley MacLaine, a character if there ever was one, teaching her colorful mixed group of children in the backwoods of New Zealand. There is the country itself, caught in imaginative photography. There is mixed-up teacher Laurence Harvey and school inspector Jack Hawkins who has a wife and sons somewhere in England.

So long as the plot remains with Miss MacLaine and her young charges "Two Loves" is sheer delight. But when it wallows in the throes of attempted physical love between Harvey and the reluctant school teacher the whole becomes lost, bogged down in over-acting and a welter of words that slows the pace of movement to a turtle crawl.

Those who have admired his work before in such films as "Room at the Top" will soon realize that this type of role is not in Harvey's line. He played it from beginning to end like a raving maniac and ended up looking ridiculous.

Indeed it was his lack of restraint that doubtless was responsible for casting a pall of make-believe over much of the film so that even Miss MacLaine appeared to be looking about rather ruefully for the comparative respectability of an "apartment".

Province-Wide Code Urged in Seizures

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new uniform code for all expropriations carried out under provincial jurisdiction, including those by municipalities, crown corporations and public utilities, was urged Tuesday before the provincial royal commission on expropriations.

The suggestion was made in a 28-page submission by the Vancouver Board of Trade, supported jointly by the Vancouver Real Estate Board and the B.C. Bar Association.

The submission said the new code should contain a precise definition of value, that market value should replace "value to the owner" as the basis of compensation for land but value to owner should continue as the basis of compensation for disturbance.

The brief said no specific limit should be set on the amount of compensation, a one-year time limit should be set for expropriations and a

JFK Reaffirms U.S. Stand Against Red China in UN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today reaffirmed strong U.S. opposition to admitting Red China to the United Nations or any UN components.

Kennedy, in an unusual statement also emphasized the American position that the Chinese Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek rightfully represents China in the United Nations.

Kennedy's statement was unusual in that he had it prepared for his news conference last week in the expectation he would be asked about this country's current position on Red China. The subject was not raised by reporters and Kennedy decided to say nothing for the moment.

Since the news conference, however, there have been reports and interpretations indicating a possible shift, however slight, in the American position, partly because of this government's exploration of the idea of recognizing Outer Mongolia with a view to ultimate UN admission.

In the light of these, unofficial commentaries, press secretary Pierre Salinger was asked today whether there had been any policy change and he related the circumstances of the statement.

U.K. Personnel Study For B.C. Power Man

B.C. Power Commission is sending its top personnel officer to England for a thorough study of staff problems in the electrical industry there.

E. R. Peck, 36, has been granted an extended leave for the trip. He will first work with the government's Central Electricity Board, and later go to a private firm.

Meanwhile in Victoria, B.C. Hydro chairman Dr. H. L. Keenleyside will personally take over the personnel post to supervise the big change-over next January when the power commission takes over all B.C. Electric operations here.

He will be assisted by Roy H. Lund, B.C. Electric's personnel chief for Vancouver Island.

Starting next year all Vancouver Island will be served by B.C. Hydro. B.C. Electric is giving up its metropolitan Victoria service in exchange for B.C. Hydro territory in the interior and northern B.C.

WITH FAIRNESS

Dr. Keenleyside said all Hydro and B.C. Electric personnel affected will be treated "with understanding and complete fairness."

Mr. Peck will return to Victoria in mid-1962.

In England he will study the latest developments in industrial relations and staff training. The British central board has 53,000 employees.

Pacific Cable Plan

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japanese and U.S. communication companies will sign an agreement for the laying of a trans-Pacific submarine telephone cable early next month, a spokesman for Japan's International Telegram and Telephone Company said Monday.

As west coast activities manager for Mojonier Bros., food processing equipment manufacturers he has travelled all over the world. A member of the Oakland CBMC, he is serving his second term on the international board. Mr. Armerding is also owner of Western Book and Tract Co. in Oakland.

FLYING IN from the 24th annual Christian Business Men's Committee international convention in Montreal to address the annual banquet and ladies' night of the Victoria committee on Monday at 7 p.m. in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel, is George D. Armerding of Lafayette, California.

Council Warned On Bylaw Stand

Victoria council representatives, only group in the four municipalities showing reluctance to support the Oct. 28 school bylaw, were warned defeat of the referendum would hurt city pupils as well as others.

The warning came Wednesday at a meeting called by Greater Victoria school board to seek support from the four councils.

Only public attack made against the referendum so far has come from Ald. A. I. Curtis, who claimed the city would pay an unfair share of the $3,755,000 bylaw.

This position was supported again by city manager C. C. Wyatt.

CARRY FIGHT

However, other municipal representatives suggested Mr. Wyatt should carry his fight against the present method of cost sharing to the provincial government instead of against the children who will need the classrooms.

No Labor Act Violation By Royal York in Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Magistrate Thomas Elmore ruled Wednesday the Royal York Hotel did not violate the Ontario Labor Relations Act by dismissing striking employees last July 16.

The Hotel and Club Employees Union (CLC), acting on permission from the Ontario Labor Relations Board, had charged the CPR, which owns the hotel, with using the threat of dismissal to compel employees to give up their rights under the act.

Testimony was heard last Friday but Magistrate Elmore reserved judgment until Wednesday.

David Lewis, counsel for the union, said during the trial that the labor act prohibits employers from dismissing strike as they did.

Magistrate Elmore said there is no sector of the act "specifically giving the right to strike." However, "different sections of the act restrict the right to strike," he said.

Magistrate Elmore said the union's collective agreement with the hotel had expired before the strike was called April 24, so employees were working under individual common-law contracts when they walked out.

"Conditions were such as exist under master and servant law," the magistrate said. It follows, he said, that the employees had "no right to

Sask. Doctors Reject Medical Plan

SASKATON (CP) — The Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons has rejected the CCF government's proposed medical care plan, but Premier T. C. Douglas says he has "every reason" to believe doctors will participate in the scheme when details of the plan are made known. About 300 doctors at the college's annual convention voted Wednesday to reject the government's plan as proposed in an enabling bill now before the legislature. The vote and discussion were behind closed doors, but Dr. D. Dalgleish, president of the college, said later at a press conference that about 300 doctors took part in a standing vote and about 10 or 12 dissented. About 900 doctors are registered with the Saskatchewan college.

Dr. Dalgleish said doctors have interpreted the bill "to mean the government will control both the people getting the service and those giving the service."

NO DETAILS YET

The government bill calls for a compulsory and comprehensive medical care plan for most of Saskatchewan's 930,000 residents. It does not spell out financial details or give a starting date of the plan but Premier Douglas has indicated that doctors will be paid on a fee-for-service basis, similar to that already in use in private medical insurance schemes. Residents will pay premiums.

Dr. Dalgleish said doctors have interpreted the bill "to mean the government will control both the people getting the service and those giving the service."

"We feel it is in the best interest of the patients... when there is no loss of freedom by the doctor or the patient."

He said doctors feel the government plan should cover only the needy and the insurable. People should be free to select their own insurance coverage.

NO ALTERNATIVES

Dr. Dalgleish would not comment on what doctors would do if the medical care bill were passed in its present form.

"Regardless of what happens, we intend to look after our patients because they are our patients and our friends," he said.

Premier Douglas said in Regina he believes officials of the government and the college are to meet in Regina Saturday.

Dr. Dalgleish said no definite arrangements have been made.

"If we do meet with the cabinet, it will not be for purposes of negotiating, but simply to formally criticize and discuss the plan," he said.

Calypso Writer Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Funeral services will be held today for the man who wrote two of the most widely known calypso songs—Mary Ann and Rum and Coco Cola. Lord Invader, born Rupert Grant in Port of Spain, Trinidad, died Sunday in hospital after an illness of a month. He was 47.

Jury Can't Decide in Bribe Case

OTTAWA (CP)—A county court jury failed to bring in a verdict Wednesday night in the trial of Abbe Bergeron, 45, of Cornwall, charged with corruptly giving money to a member of Parliament. The jury was "hung" after four hours and 50 minutes of deliberation and county judge Peter J. Macdonald remanded the service station operator to be tried again "at the next meeting of a court of competent jurisdiction."

Bail of $500 for Bergeron was renewed.

Bergeron is charged with corruptly giving $10,000 in 1956 to Raymond Bruneau, then Liberal MP for Glengarry-Prescott.

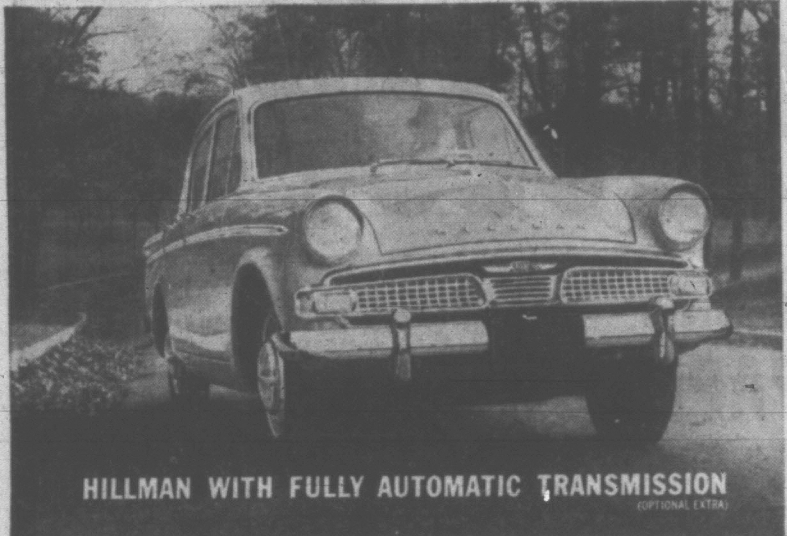

Deaths from diphtheria tallied seven in Canada in 1960, compared with 20 in 1957.

Gov't Misled By Wen-Gren Says Socred

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Social Credit MLA said Wednesday the provincial government was "misled" by interests representing Swedish millionaire industrialist Axel Wenner-Gren with promises of building a vast industrial empire in the north.

The Vancouver member told a club luncheon Tuesday Premier Bennett's government had been "taken in" by Wenner-Gren. Expanding on this in an interview today he said the only reason Premier Bennett was interested was because unemployment was on the increase in 1956.

"Wenner-Gren came along and made great promises about putting men to work," Mr. Price said. "The promises failed to materialize."

"I think actually they (the government) had been misled."

He said he believed the Wenner-Gren interests recognized the Rocky Mountain trench area in the interior had great possibilities and they wanted to tie it up until it was economically sound to develop.

HALIFAX (CP)—The Canadian Tourist Association said Wednesday any plan to alter disposition of Canada's resources which neglects individuals and their need for recreation is a "betrayal of the future."

"To ensure proper development of the "complete man" natural resources must be considered for their recreational purposes as well as for their importance to industry, the association says in a brief to the Resources for Tomorrow conference made public at the association's annual convention here.

The Resources for Tomorrow conference opens next week in Montreal.

The association says the conference has an overriding responsibility to keep the Canadian citizen and his well-being at the heart of its deliberations.

NEED MORE ROADS

It admits it is hard to develop a policy for the use of renewable resources that will give proper weight to the need for recreation. For example, Canada needs more roads but better transportation must not take a toll of scenic beauty.

Recreational planning is often "too little and too late" because of a natural reluctance to provide facilities surplus to present need.

Canada was experiencing a revolution in social recreation habits, sparked by a trend to the outdoors. This needed to be encouraged with more facilities. More attention must be given to the recreational aspects of maintaining water levels in streams and lakes, important to fishing and water sports.

In the age of mechanization, mass production and automation people found less opportunity in their work for creative activity and healthful physical effort. This must be compensated for by greater recreation opportunities away from the job.

The three-day Tourist Association conference ends today.

Public Market Plan To Aid Small Farmer

Revival of public marketing in British Columbia is being urged by Victoria horticulturist Attilio Randy.

In a recent interview with B.C. Agriculture Minister Frank Richter, Mr. Randy suggested that public marketing should be established in every community "in order to revive and maintain family holdings and country life."

"The minister expressed himself in favor of the idea," Mr. Randy told the Times.

He believes there are many small farmers who, because of high production costs, would find public marketing of considerable advantage.

ROAD STALLS

"There has been a recent resurgence of road-side stalls, proving that the general public is very much interested in the purchase of locally-grown farm products," Mr. Randy declared.

"However, roadside stalls are limited in their benefit to those who are fortunate enough to be situated on the main artery of traffic."

Mr. Randy has also submitted his proposal to the Women's Institutes of British Columbia.

MANY IMPORTS

"It is a known fact," he wrote, "that millions of dollars of farm produce and other agriculture products are imported annually from across the border."

"We could produce these products ourselves if we were given an opportunity for marketing."

JETS CHECKED FOR RADIATION

LONDON (Reuters)—The Dutch airline KLM has started a daily radioactivity check on its aircraft following the discovery of a big increase in radioactive dust in the engines and on the nose of its high-flying aircraft, it was disclosed today.

"The planes particularly affected were our DC-8s, which operate up to 40,000 feet, and Electras," a KLM spokesman said.

The Scandinavian Airlines System also reported it had noted a "slight increase" in radioactivity on its DC-8 jets flying polar routes to Los Angeles and Tokyo.

DRUG INDUSTRY TELLS COMMISSION

Heavy Risks Justify Profits

TORONTO (CP)—Drug manufacturing is a high-risk industry in which products developed after expensive research may quickly become obsolete, the federal government's restrictive trade practices commission was told Wednesday.

This was one of the arguments marshalled by the Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, which sought to show that the profits of drug-making firms are not excessive and the prices paid by the consumer for their products are reasonable.

The association delivered its points in an 80-page brief.

The commission also heard a suggestion by the Canadian Hospital Association that the federal government should expand testing, analysis and inspection of drugs. The point was made in a brief submitted by George McCracken, assistant director of the hospital association.

The commission, which has held hearings at nine other cities across Canada, is inquiring into the manufacture, sale and distribution of drugs.

Calgary, Edmonton Voters Return Mayors

By The Canadian Press

The mayor of Edmonton and Calgary were returned to office Wednesday but Mayor A. W. Shackelford of Lethbridge failed to hold his seat after 20 years on city council.

Mayor Elmer Roper of Edmonton and Mayor Harry Hays of Calgary won re-election for two-year terms by comfortable margins. Both were first elected in 1959.

Ernest Newman, former city commissioner, was elected mayor of Red Deer, to succeed retiring J. M. McAfee.

The mayor of Lethbridge is elected by city council from among its members, but voters approved a change to the system of choosing their mayor by popular vote, the method used in other cities.

Mayor Roper, 68, defeated

Edmund Leger, a motel owner, and lawyer R. B. Simmons.

Mr. Leger gave up his council seat to contest the mayoralty. Three years ago he sparked a judicial inquiry into city land dealings which led to the resignation of William Hawrelak as mayor. Mr. Leger was successful on his first try for council two years ago.

Mr. Roper is president of an Edmonton printing firm and for 13 years sat in the Alberta legislature as CCF House leader.

Mayor Hays, 51, wealthy cattleman and auctioneer, defeated school teacher Art McPaul. Mr. McPaul was backed by the Calgary Labor Council in his first entry into politics. Mr. Newman defeated Ellis Johnstone in the Red Deer mayoralty race.

Uniform Insurance For Cars Necessary

HALIFAX (CP)—Canada needs a national system of highways and uniform automobile liability insurance, J. G. McQueen of Ottawa, executive secretary of the Canadian Automobile Association, said Wednesday.

Without them the tourist industry cannot be developed to its full potential, he told the Canadian Tourist Association.

A federally-backed highway system was needed to complement the nearly-completed Trans-Canada Highway. It would encourage the building of new tourist facilities.

Mr. McQueen said his association has urged provincial governments and insurance officials to agree on a uniform liability insurance identification certificate.

IMPOUNDING POSSIBLE

Some provinces have agreements among themselves but motorists from outside these provinces can have their cars impounded if they become involved in an accident, he said. "A few had experiences by the travelling public and tourism cannot help but be affected."

Blacklist Plan To Aid Pickets

The names of workers and firms who cross picket lines of three striking unions in B.C. will be collected on blacklists and circulated to the neighborhoods in which they live and work.

Action has been suggested

Poisoned Beer

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters)—Lucas Nyoni, a Negro worker found guilty of poisoning a communal beer can last May, was sentenced to death Wednesday. Four men died and six others were made ill by the poisoning.

Filipino Ex-MP Dies

MANILA (AP)—Sergio Osmeña, 83, president of The Philippines after the Second World War, died today of heart and kidney ailments.

by B.C. Federation of Labor in a seven-point program designed to support the striking unions.

Victoria Labor Council on Wednesday endorsed the plan.

The three unions on strike are the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store workers; the Steelworkers and the Retail Food and Drug Clerks.

Strike committee of the federation decided that the strike of the Retail Wholesale workers against Taylor, Pearson & Carson and B. F. Goodrich plants is "most pressing."

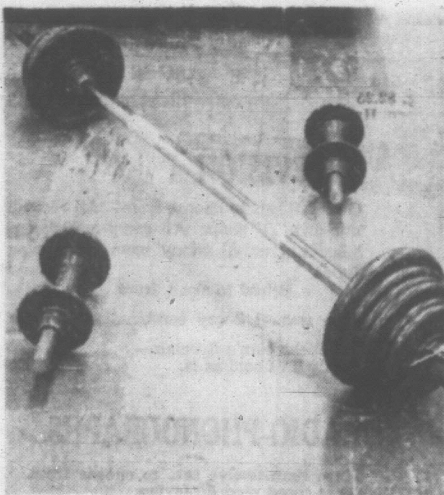

The committee claims the strikers have been subject to harassment and intimidation.

The federation's plan also calls on union members throughout the province to return credit cards to Standard Oil Company and to stop buying the company's products.

Power Race Over For Outboards?

Improvements rather than increased power are being stressed by the outboard motor manufacturers in their 1962 models.

Only line with added power is Mercury, which has come up with the Mercury 1,000 of 100 horsepower. Until now its leader was the 80-horsepower model.

This big, burly fellow first American outboard to reach 100 horsepower, squeezes its thrust out of 90 cubic inches spread through six cylinders. It has new gears, rods, pistons, crankshaft, and lower unit, and comes with higher pitched propellers.

The cylinder head is of a new design which, Mercury claims, gives the 1,000 and 850 better fuel consumption, smoother idling, quicker throttle response, and quieter operation at all speeds.

Mercury also offers one-hand throttle and shift control, a selection of up to 10 propellers for each model, and hydraulic shock absorbers on motors of 50 horsepower and up.

Despite emphasis on power, the company is proud of its 9.5 horsepower fishing motor, which weighs only 55 pounds, can troll at drifting speed, yet gives 26 miles per hour on a light hull.

Low Silhouette Feature

Scott McCulloch is standing pat with a full range which peaks out with the big three-cylinder Royal Scott. The firm also boasts a small motor—the low-silhouette fisherman which gives the maximum of convenience and minimum of trouble for the angler who sometimes finds a motor on the transom to be a bit of an obstruction.

The low silhouette goes right through the line to the Flying Scott. The latter's three big cylinders deliver a full 75.2 horsepower, but are barely half as high as the six-cylinder motors.

Outboard Marine Corporation has announced its three divisions—Evinrude, Johnson, and Gale—will feature refinements instead of more power. Biggest motors in these lines develop 75 horsepower, and OMC seems to think that is as much as the public wants.

Evinrude and Johnson have produced a 28-horsepower motor which they hope will suit a multitude of uses. It will make a small boat plane and tow water skiers, will get a larger boat to fishing grounds in a hurry, and will use a moderate amount of fuel.

The automatic shifts on the larger motors are electrically operated by either lever or button. Idea seems to be to make a boat operate as much like a car as possible.

Priest Back From Russia Praises Russian People

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest has returned from three years' service in the Soviet capital with praise for the Russian people.

"If they like you," said Rev. Louis F. Dion, "they will give you their last slice of bread. They are not materialistic and they don't worry too much about tomorrow."

The priest was back at Assumption College today to resume his duties as registrar, which were interrupted in 1959 when he was named chaplain of the American colony in Moscow. He succeeded the Rev. George L. Bissonnette, who was expelled by the Soviet government. Father Dion said there is freedom of worship in Russia but it is countered by "freedom of atheistic propaganda."

DEADLOCK REMAINS ON UN CHIEF

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Soviet and U.S. chief delegates reported continued deadlock Wednesday night after conferring for an hour and a quarter about the selection of a temporary UN secretary-general.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told reporters, "we studied both our positions and did not agree on anything as yet."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson said there was no agreement or, as he put it, "no runs, no hits and I can't say about the errors."

Journalist Defends Right to Opinions

NEW YORK (AP)—Herbert L. Matthews of the New York Times said Wednesday the Inter-American Press Association could champion freedom of the press only if it upholds its members' right to their opinions.

Matthews addressed the IAPA during a debate prompted by a statement of five exiled Cuban editors criticizing him and an editorial printed Tuesday in The Times.

The exile group said Matthews, a former Havana correspondent for The Times, has "been praising Fidel Castro with an unbreakable persistence." Matthews is the author of a recently-published book, The Cuban Story, and a member of the Times editorial board.

Matthews told the association the question was whether an individual in the IAPA and its member organizations can say what they believe to be true and right.

"If we could not," he said, "you would have no right to set yourselves up as champions of freedom of the press."

Guillermo Martinez Marquez, former editor of El Pais, Havana, said he agreed with the right of The Times and Matthews to express their opinions, but added:

"This same right implies the right to reply and criticize."

SOUTH OF THE BORDER — WOW!

Visitors from Mexico are rare enough in Victoria under any circumstances, but when they are young, beautiful, and GIRLS—! Carambola! These pretties, aged 18 to 26, work at Mauna Loa Restaurant in Mexico City, and are on trip paid by management to Honolulu to learn Hawaiian dance.

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Do people live longer in Victoria? Or would they live just as long anywhere else? World-traveller Arthur Turvey insists that longevity is born of heredity and a strong constitution. All this talk of soft climates, soft scenery and slower tempos is a lot of bunk, he says. Sir Winston Churchill doesn't live in a soft climate and his wartime tempo was anything but slow. Yet, despite every assault on his life, he is still living. And, as Mrs. Esther Moore of 1843 Crescent, points out, Victoria has no monopoly of old-timers. She forwarded a copy of the Tottenham Weekly Herald which records no less than three golden weddings, one diamond wedding and the birthday of a 106-year-old man, all in the same issue. Tottenham is a smoky industrial town of North London—and they say the London smog is the deadliest killer of all. Why then does it have so many old-timers?

This same issue of the Tottenham Herald contains a half-page advertisement for:

Men aged 60-65 urgently wanted by a local radio factory, along with advertisements for clerks, typists, shop assistants, packers, mail order clerks, flitters, buyers, plumbers and all kinds of machine operators. There is no unemployment, it seems, for young or old in Britain today.

Six readers say the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley was held in 1925; five say it was in 1924. Both groups are right—the exhibition was held in 1924 and 1925, according to our files.

R. J. Pope of 157 Joseph recalls that, when he went there with his school in 1925, the students were forbidden to go into the Fun Fair because it was considered "non-instructive."

We complain constantly of Vancouver stealing our proudest scenic beauties and using them to its own ends—witness "Come to Vancouver and the Beautiful Malahat Drive."

By contrast, V. R. Pilkington of North Vancouver sends me a postcard of penguins luxuriating in what is described as the "beautiful Victoria Zoo."

Alas, we have no zoo and no penguins either.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

An auction of household and garden furniture and office equipment will be held in St. George's parish hall, Cadboro Bay, in aid of the new parish hall, next Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Thomas Bernard Blouin, HMCS Margaree, was fined $20 in city police court today for being a minor in possession of liquor.

Police said he was found Sept. 11 at 8:50 p.m. in the 600 block Humboldt Street with two cases of beer.

Victoria-Labor Council on Wednesday unanimously approved a resolution reiterating its request to the provincial government for a technical-vocational school to be built in this area. The resolution was proposed by council secretary A. W. Toone.

Jaywalkers will be given special attention by police in Victoria's downtown business section.

Deputy Chief Harry Mercer said offending pedestrians will be given warnings by members of the force for the next two weeks but infractions after that would be rewarded with summonses.

The action was prompted by an increase in the number of pedestrians darting across streets in the middle of blocks which has resulted in several accidents during the past three weeks.

Victoria British Israel Association will meet in the Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street, next Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. Reports of the convention of the Canadian British Israel Association at Windsor, Ont., Oct. 5-8, will be given by delegates.

A Cross of Sacrifice will be unveiled by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes in the Veterans' Cemetery, Esquimalt, on Oct. 27 at 2:30 p.m.

The symbolic granite cross is identical to one in Ross Bay Cemetery and others erected in many countries by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission in tribute to Commonwealth servicemen.

The Veterans' Cemetery, situated near Gorge Vale Golf Club, is more than 100 years old and more than 800 servicemen are buried there.

A federal cabinet decision, announced by the Civil Service Commission at Ottawa, allows 200,000 federal employees across Canada an extra day off.

Remembrance Day actually falls on a Saturday, Nov. 11. The cabinet now has power to decide holidays under a new Civil Service Act passed this year.

Last holiday to fall on a Saturday was Dominion Day this summer.

Victoria Out of Step On Fireworks

Greater Victoria's year-long quest for a uniform fireworks bylaw still won't be completed in time for this Halloween because of city council.

But three-quarters of the area — Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt — will be in step with regulations prohibiting sale of fireworks except 48 hours before Halloween; explosion of fireworks except between noon and midnight Oct. 31, and only on private property.

More than a year ago, inter-municipal committee began working for a uniform set of regulations on sale and explosion of fireworks to end a chaotic situation.

BORDER CROSSING

With different deadlines for sale of firecrackers in the four municipalities, youngsters could get as many firecrackers as often as they wished long before Halloween—merely by walking across a municipal boundary. Same applied to the periods during which they could explode the fireworks.

To stop the abuses, inter-municipal committee called for a uniform bylaw last year but there was not enough time to obtain the measure before Halloween.

During the ensuing months, solicitors of the four municipalities met and drafted a uniform bylaw.

With amendments, that bylaw will be in force before Oct. 31 in Saanich and Esquimalt. It already has been adopted in Oak Bay.

NO PROCESS

Only the city of Victoria has not started the process of adopting the bylaw.

Although the city has studied the draft it has not even received first reading. It cannot go into effect in time for this Halloween without special council meetings.

In any event, passage of the bylaw by city council would mean little now because stores have been legally permitted to sell fireworks in the city since Oct. 14 under the present bylaw.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Manager Jack Morgan will speak on "Our Memorial Arena and Its Future."

Victoria British Israel Association will meet in the Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street, next Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. Reports of the convention of the Canadian British Israel Association at Windsor, Ont., Oct. 5-8, will be given by delegates.

GLOBE-TROTTERING FUTURE FOR OUR MISS CANADA

By HAL JONES

Eighteen-year-old Nina Holden of Victoria, who took over the Miss Canada title four weeks ago, will be an accomplished globe-trotter by the time she relinquishes her crown next summer.

The dark-haired former Victoria High School student has a busy year ahead of her, including trips to Europe, Haiti, a Caribbean paradise; South America and a possible trip to Russia.

Up to now she has been kept busy opening functions and making personal appearances in the East.

Her activities have included the opening of a school in Copetown, Ont., opening an agricultural fair and presenting prizes at a horse show. In an interview after the school opening, Nina is quoted as saying she has almost certainly made up her mind to become an elementary school teacher "but this next year will tell for sure."

Al Buchan, president of Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, today said officials of the Miss Canada pageant had notified the junior chamber they are "delighted" at the way in which the Victoria girl is filling her role.

Nina also was paid a tribute Wednesday night by S. Radcliffe Weaver, director of the Miss Canada Pageant, at a Burlington dinner.

At the same time, Mr. Weaver announced he is retiring from the directorship, a position he has held for the past 16 years.

Noting that he has been the continual target for criticism over the years, he defended the pageant's dethroning of Connie Gail Feller of Ottawa as the 1962 Miss Canada.

He said certain contributors have withdrawn as a result of the action, "but it will come out all right."

Early Tax Date Offers Saving To Ratepayers

Deadline Moved Up Two Months

City taxpayers will save $25,000 by paying their taxes two months early next year, finance committee was told today.

Committee recommended council move the present Sept. 30 deadline for payment of taxes to July 31 next year in order to reap the benefit.

"The saving would amount to one-quarter of a mill each year," said comptroller-treasurer James Bramley. "It might cause some inconvenience to taxpayers next year but after that it would become the regular thing."

INTEREST COST

He pointed out the city now pays about $45,000 in interest charges for short-term borrowings to cover its bills during the early part of the year while waiting for taxes to come in.

"Three-quarters of the year is over now before our taxes come in," he said.

The earlier deadline would cut down the interest charges and enable the city to earn more interest itself on deposits.

"All the other municipalities in this area have due dates that are earlier than Victoria's," he said.

Guilty Plea To Thefts From Cars

A Victoria man pleaded guilty today in city police court to three charges of theft of goods from parked cars and was remanded to Oct. 27 for probation report and sentence.

Keith Alfred Shepherd, 1060 Burdett, was charged with theft of three articles early today from parked cars.

Police said he was arrested after being found sitting in a parked car on Moss Street at 5:30 a.m. attempting to force the glove compartment. Nothing was missing.

STOLE RIFLE

He subsequently admitted taking a .303 calibre carbine rifle from a car owned by Roy Wilson, 232 Richmond, while it was parked outside Wilson's home earlier in the night.

Police found the weapon in Ross Bay Cemetery together with a loaded magazine.

On his person at the time of arrest were a plastic flask containing liquor and a flashlight which he admitted taking earlier from cars owned respectively by Frank Rowbotham, 1802 Richardson, and Eileen M. Wilson, 903 Lonsdale. Both cars had been parked outside their owners' homes.

Hydro Plans Office Addition

THROWN TO STREET in a car accident today, 13-year-old Carl Wong, of 1710 1/2 Government, waits, still conscious, for ambulance. Child was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital for observation but was understood to be in good condition with a bump on the head. Police said the car, driven by Frank Luff, 1898 Forester, collided with the boy at Rose and Hillside at 8:15 a.m. Witness said the boy "flew through the air and hit the road like a limp rag." He was on his way to school. (Times photo.)

Committee Weighs Goodwill Exemption

City finance committee today referred a Goodwill Enterprises request for tax exemption to intermunicipal committee to see if the four municipalities would subsidize the organization for handicapped.

Dr. R. J. Wride said the non-profit organization pays about $800 in property taxes which it would like to divert into a building fund aimed at erecting workshops at Bay and Wilson which would enable it to employ 100 more handicapped persons.

Mayor Percy Scurren said the city now has an "alarming" total of $33,000,000 of tax-exempt property to service and did not feel council could properly break its policy of refusing voluntary additions to this list.

But he asked the delegation to meet intermunicipal committee Friday to see if the four municipalities would be willing to give a grant to the organization equal to its tax bills.

NEGOTIATIONS

After an hour-long meeting of aldermen this morning, Mayor Percy Scurren confirmed this. "Negotiations have started with a view to price and suitability for use as a city hall," he said.

Dr. Keenleyside said that B.C. Hydro also intends to run the B.C. Electric bus service in Victoria "unless other arrangements are made."

He said he knows nothing of any move to give the transit service to the city.

City and B.C. Electric officials also denied any such offer had been made.

"We have discussed no such proposition with Victoria," said B.C. Electric president Dr. Gordon Shrum.

Municipalities are afraid they might be saddled with unprofitable transit operations here and in Greater Vancouver when contracts expire in three years time with the crown-owned utility.

Italian Porcelain to Add Distinction to Your Room

By PENNY SAVER

Are you a perfectionist? Do you like just the right vase in just the right spot in your ultra-modern living room? Or do you need one more piece on the mantel to go with your period furniture?

Ceramics is the answer in both instances. Porcelain lined vases, with a rough brown, pocked finish are completely a la moderne. These vases, hand-made, about nine inches high, and not quite even in shape, are decorated with multi-colored sprays of glazed enamel flowers.

Extremely striking, black vases, with white handles, display hand-etched medieval castles. The most unique of all, are beige vases, pitchers, candy dishes, and ash trays, with a beaded white finish, touched off with sprays of flowers, and with a blue porcelain finish inside.

All articles are hand-made in Italy. Price? Only $5.95 each.

Another item I've found that should be a blessing to those who feel changes of weather in their 'bones,' is a spot heating pad. Measuring 12" by 16" the pad has a removable blue and white flannel cover that can be washed. It has a lever style Braille-type switch that sets at three definite heats, and can be used in any standard voltage plug in. Regularly $4.98, it can now be yours for $3.98.

Double-Ring Ceremony In St. Matthias Church

Her late grandmother's sapphire and pearl ring was "something old" for Carol Mae Oliver when she became the bride of Stanley Raymond Hodgkinson in a double-ring ceremony in St. Matthias Anglican Church.

She wore a brushed lace sheath gown that featured a scooped neckline and lily point sleeves. Chapel-length veil of illusion net misted from a coronet of rhinestone. Her bouquet was gold carnations and bronze chrysanthemums. Sterling silver locket was only other jewelry.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Oliver, 804 Darwin Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hodgkinson, 3840 Cumberland Street. Mr. Oliver gave his daughter in marriage. Church was decorated in autumn theme for ceremony at which Rev. Angus Cameron officiated.

Pale blue brocade full-skirted ballerina-length gown was worn by Lynda. Maud Shepherd when she exchanged vows with Oswald James Rose in a ceremony in Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke. Gown featured a sweetheart neckline and elbow-length sleeves. Toning was waist-length veil that misted from a pearl coronet. White rosebuds were in her bouquet.

Standard baskets of chrysanthemums in autumn shades decorated the church for the candlelit ceremony at which Dr. E. A. Wright officiated. Mrs. Myrtle Piercy sang "The Wedding Prayer" before the service and Mrs. Helen Yost, "I'll Walk Beside You" during signing of the register. Organist was Milton Gibson.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Shepherd, Sooke, and the late Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Rose of Shaunavon, Sask.

Only attendant was Miss Frances McEwen who chose a beige brocade gown in ballerina length. Material was embossed in deep bronze tones. Beige net and velvet hat and bouquet of bronze-toned chrysanthemums completed the ensemble.

Wallace Hunter was best man and ushers were Len Shepherd, brother of the bride,

Dieting Can Be Fun—This Diet Proves It

Dieting can be fun! It does not mean that you must survive on lettuce leaves and forget foods you really like. It does mean that you will have to take smaller helpings, and that you probably will have to prepare and season your food differently. It also means that you will have to give up those in-between-meal snacks unless they are a part of a prescribed meal, which you saved for in-between times.

You will find a lot of low calorie tricks in seasoning in the menus I am offering you this week. As most of you know I am bringing you my Trick and Treat Diet.

Here are the menus for tomorrow.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

They Know How To Put Their Products Across

By ELIZABETH FORBES

This is the time of year when representatives of well-known manufacturers of everything that interests women — from kitchen gadgets to cosmetics — travel across Canada to promote the different wares.

They visit newspaper offices, appear on television, talk on the radio, and, if they are right on their toes, they have an intriguing approach that puts their product across by indirection and not by direct selling.

Forbes

Two charming exponents of this type of salesmanship have been in the city this week.

One talks about plastics and the other of cosmetics.

Both have names starting with "K" (one Greta Kokko and the other, Marjorie Kent), and both are on their first visits to the Pacific Coast.

Miss Kokko (it's a Finnish name, by the way, and her parents came to Canada from that country) represents the huge company that mass produces plastic materials from which so many time-saving devices are made these days.

From her office in Montreal she sends out regular information to newspapers, radio and television on latest developments in the field of plastics, textile fibres and other products of interest in the home.

On this trip she is urging people to be sure and buy named brands in plastic articles, ones with the manufacturer's guarantee behind them.

Another plea she makes is that women use plastic containers in the right way. A plastic container for ice cream is made specially for ice cream, she says. Perhaps it looks too good to throw away so the housewife keeps it and uses it for other foods. Then, a few days later, when it develops a slight odor, she shrugs off plastic as a dead loss.

Wrong attitude, says Greta Kokko. It's not the plastic, it's the housewife.

The newest development is a rigid plastic that can be put into the dishwasher and a plastic hettling for packaging products. It's being used also for hair rollers.

Interspersed with her sales talk Miss Kokko tells you she has this year taken a lease on a 100-acre farm in her native province of Quebec (she was born in Quebec City).

There's a 300-year-old house on the property and lots of sugar maple and cedar trees. Someday she plans to raise animals (dogs or sheep) down there and to go in for making maple sugar in a big way.

Her Skin Best Selling Point

Tall, good-looking Marjorie Kent has a tremendous asset in selling her international brand of cosmetics, in her own skin, free from wrinkles, youthfully smooth.

In the cosmetic line she talks of are all the tested and approved scientific advances; royal jelly, vitamins, proteins, moisture retainers, hormones and antiseptics designed for women who live with pressure schedules, diets, steam heat and tensions.

Newest in the group of preparations is a fluid make-up that has the qualities of magic. And it certainly works, if Miss Kent's skin is an example.

This charming visitor was born in Halifax and can boast of being a fifth generation Canadian. She is interested in backgrounds of people and especially in the history of Canada. She lives in Toronto now, but goes "home" each year. And home, of course, is the Maritimes.

Now Clean Your Own Clothes

To cap-off the week, I was invited to attend a preview showing last night at a new coin dry-cleaning establishment opened in Victoria. It's one of three in British Columbia, the other two being a Chilliwack and in Burnaby.

You take your clothes in, just as you would to a laundromat, and you do it yourself.

Amazing thing is that the clothes come out of the dry-cleaning machine with a pressed look. Even the creases in men's trousers are still there.

Are the clothes clean? They certainly are!

To demonstrate this point, one of the men in charge, plastered salad-dressing, shaving lotion, butter and heavy car oil, on a beautiful wool coat, put it in the dry-cleaning machine, left it whirling there for 45 minutes and brought it out, looking like new.

Almost unbelievable — but I saw it happen!

Guild Marks Golden Anniversary

FIRST IN CITY
The group is the oldest Anglican women's guild in Victoria. It was formed in 1910 as the Oak Bay Guild of Church Workers; the name was changed to St. Mary's Guild of Oak Bay in 1912 and later to the present name.

First president was the late Mrs. A. D. Crease.

Guild motto, "With Good Will Doing Service," was suggested by Mrs. C. J. Bunbury, now 90 years of age, and the oldest active worker in the group.

In early years the guild worked to assist in erection of the first church in 1911 and provided some of the furnishings. Its activities have been planned to assist in many phases of church work, and in the last few years, to help with building and furnishing of the new church.

A continuing project is the providing of treats at Easter for children and senior citizens through the Surplus Food Stall.

Be Prepared to Pay the Price

Bargain hunting and acquisition of paintings and sculpture for the home do not mix, said John Di Castri, speaker in second of series on "Arts Enter the Home," held at the Art Gallery, Wednesday evening.

"People are still looking for bargains when it comes to works of art. They haven't learned that good art necessitates the paying of a proper price."

He urged development of an inquiring mind as first step in acquiring good taste in the field of art.

Good taste in interior decorating, said the well-known architect, comes with consistent use of broad principles combined with imagination.

Describing symmetrical placing of pictures and furniture in the home as a static composition, he urged the audience to experiment with asymmetrical arrangements.

"Symmetrical placements were the vogue," he added, "in the Victorian era, when paintings were apt to be hung on the walls and then forgotten. They were status symbols for their owners, much like the cars of today."

When arranging collections in the home, he advised that the whole effect be taken into consideration.

Emphasizing use of color in the home he advised his audience not to overlook use of black or silver as a background for paintings. Lighting, too, he felt, played a large part in deciding where paintings and other times should be placed in the home.

Deploping use of fluorescent strips over paintings, Mr. Di Castri recommended indirect lighting, either through built-in lights or swivel types, often used in ceilings.

Outlining one "print of the month" scheme whereby members could obtain five or more prints of paintings by competent artists he said:

"I would like to see more use of prints in the home."

Such a scheme helps the average person to be conditioned to good art continually and to create the consistent change that keeps one aware of the beauty in the home.

DEAR ABBY

He Deserves Much More!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For five years now we have taken on the full responsibility of our son's illegitimate child. The mother of this child is very irresponsible, and left the child with me since birth. My son and this girl have been going together since the baby was born, but have made no marriage plans for the future. They both date other people. The child sees his mother occasionally, but is confused about who she is because I am the only "mother" he has known, although I have him call me Nanna to let him know I am not his mother. We are the child's legal guardians, and our only concern is that this child should have a happy, normal life. Please help us clear up this mess while there is still time.

HEARTSICK NANNA.
DEAR NANNA: To be honest with you, I think you have another child to raise. Why don't you ask for a legal waiver on the boy from both parents, adopt him, and give him the normal life he has coming to him?
Victoria Daily Times 23
THURS., OCT. 19, 1961

DEAR ABBY: I like a kid and he likes me. He is 18 and I am 16. My father says this kid looks like a "wise guy," and he won't let me go out with him. I think this is very unfair as my father only saw him once for a little while. Can you help me?

SIXTEEN. DEAR SIXTEEN: Parents have been known to misjudge people, but they usually are correct in their first impressions. Take your father's word for it, and be a "wise girl."

DEAR ABBY: This might sound like a very petty thing to complain about, but it means a lot to me. My husband doesn't remember my birthday, our anniversary, the children's birthdays or any of the smaller occasions, like Valentine's Day and Mother's

Day. He does remember Christmas because there is so much advertising about it. I don't love him any less for it, but I can't help feeling a little hurt. Don't tell me I should be glad he doesn't get drunk and chase women. I know all his good qualities, but I wish he were a little more thoughtful. When he forgets, he feels full. When he forgets, he feels guilty and apologizes. I never mention how hurt I am, but I hate being

"FORGOTTEN." DEAR "FORGOTTEN": Do not sulk in silence. Start your own "advertising campaign" by sending your husband little reminders a week or two in advance. You will be "remembered," and your husband won't feel guilty because he "forgot."

What's troubling you? Write Abby, 205 Park Road, Burlingame, Calif.

Although 20th century painting has definite characteristics of its own, there is at least some continuation of the art form from previous times. Donald Harvey, recently appointed lecturer in art and education at Victoria College, told University Women's Club of Victoria Wednesday evening.

Characteristics of modern painting show that the artist has not broken away from tradition but seeks to use the surface of his two-dimensional canvas for the creation not of an illusion but of a reality, a tangible space.

Illustrating his theme with color slides, Mr. Harvey showed that this development was accompanied by much experimentation in media, with major emphasis on abstraction, leading for the first time to completely abstract expressionism with no figuration painting whatever. "If any one painting has turned the development of art in one particular direction, it is Picasso's 'La Femme d'Alger,' the first cubist painting, which showed a new understanding and representation of form," he said.

Showing examples of Grunewald of the 16th Century and Graham, Sutherland of today in their treatment of "The Crucifixion," Mr. Harvey demonstrated the manner in which emotions are charged and barbarity symbolized. "The symbolism and flat colors of Picasso's 'Guernica' is one of the most frightening and impressive indictments of war," he said.

"The reason for cubism, abstractionism, symbolism and all the other 'isms' of modern art, is to be found in modern man's need for individuality and identification in his over-organized existence."

Speaker was introduced by Mrs. R. G. Hobson and thanked by Miss M. Gould.

New members introduced by Mrs. J. L. Andrews were Mrs.

G. W. Ault, Miss A. G. Black, Mrs. Gordon E. Cox, Mrs. F. W. Danks, Mrs. F. E. Deloume, Mrs. E. M. Hagmeier, Miss Ethel C. Hopkins, Mrs. R. E. Knowles, Miss "Florence" G. McConnell, Mrs. W. J. McMurray, Miss Carole E. Mills, Mrs. R. H. Proudman, Mrs. R. N. Samson, Dr. Marion I. Scribner, Mrs. P. H. Thomas, Miss Barrie Ellen Worthington and Miss B. Hazel Sargent.

Two award winners were announced, the University Women's Club scholarship to Miss Carolyn S. McCammon and the Rosalind W. Young scholarship to Miss Anne E. Kemp.

Refreshments were served under the convenship of Mrs. E. G. Tallman.

GE LESSON
By OSWALD JACOBY
About four comparative strangers in a bridge club. The first has was dealt and was passed out.

While the second hand was being dealt, the man who had bid in last seat remarked, "I almost opened three diamonds."

The partner said, "If you had, I would have bid three no-trump."

The reply was "You can't bid three no-trump when I open with three diamonds and a fourth seat."

An argument started and became so violent that the game was broken up.

South's hand is an example of what a fourth hand minor suit pre-empt should be. It holds the best hand to go to three no-trump after 4. He knows that South holds an extraordinary bid of this type. 10 major cards, but is afraid and North has no trouble running with one diamond North, will prevail. East will show his spade suit. What will happen to him is to wind up at four spades.

People and Things

LONDON—Four unhappy people learned Wednesday that two of them are married to the wrong partner and two of them are not married at all.

The marital mix-up occurred when a high court judge rescinded a decree he granted last year ending the marriage of Adrian and Marie Sloper.

Both have since remarried but the new ruling technically unites them again and turns their second marriages into something that never was.

Sloper, a 31-year-old engineer, and his second "wife" Moira, 26, have a baby daughter.

Sloper said he plans to marry Moira again as soon as possible.

Mr. Justice Collingwood invalidated the divorce on the grounds it was granted without a certificate concerning the custody of Marie's two-year-old daughter, April.

The judge, told that both couples are happy together, granted leave for the immediate filing of a fresh application. Marie, 26, and her second husband, Gordon Evers, 31, are expecting a baby next year. They plan to adopt April.

"Someone has made a mistake and we have to pay," said Marie. "People just don't understand. They only think the worst. They are wrong."

LOS ANGELES—In the event of a nuclear attack, Californians may be imperiled by more than one enemy.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced Wednesday that if a nuclear offensive should occur, he would direct the state's civil defence to guard citizens against recently-organized guerrilla bands.

The guerrillas, small groups of men who have begun spare-time training in mountains and deserts, have threatened to shoot down persons fleeing from cities under attack to invade their areas. Brown disclosed at the 10th annual conference of the U.S. Civil Defence Council.

WASHINGTON—The Army has admitted that one of its electric brains, in a flash of human fallibility, ordered $7.4 million worth of unneeded equipment for U.S. forces in Europe.

Before the Army discovered the mistake and cancelled the orders, a few thousand dollars worth of equipment had already left the United States for Europe.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—So you think you've got teen-age telephone trouble?

Teen-agers have been calling and when the doctor's receptionist answers: "this is 5-4321," the kids shout "blast off."

They're going to get the number changed.

NEW YORK—With cold weather coming on, an assistant-district attorney told the judge Wednesday he wants a furrier out of jail—to take the telephone calls of 89 stored fur coats the furrier is accused of pawing.

"I've been getting 40 to 50 calls a day from irate women . . . and the warm weather won't last forever," assistant district attorney Leonard Newman said. The judge complied and set bail at $1,000.

The furrier, 60-year-old Ralph Wiener, is accused of pawing the 89 coats, worth $200,000 for $26,000 and also of putting another 200, worth more than $400,000, in summer storage and not having the money now to get them out.

Two Alberta Cities Reject Fluoridation

By Canadian Press Alberta's two largest cities, Wednesday voted against fluoridation of domestic water supplies in plebiscites held in conjunction with civic elections.

Some smaller centres which held plebiscites, voted for the measure.

In Calgary, votes in favor of fluoridation fell far short of the 66 per cent majority required by provincial legislation in any centre where such a plebiscite is held. The count was 30,373 in favor and 30,499 against.

In Edmonton 35,508 more than 61 per cent of those who voted—were in favor of fluoridation but 22,107 voted against it. There were 1,522 rejected ballots.

Both cities previously rejected the approval of 219 voters, fused fluoridation in 1957 and with only 54 voting against it. The town of St. Albert, eight miles northwest of Edmonton, 1,300 about 100 miles north of Edmonton, fluoridation won a 775 to 176 vote.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Rita Moreno tries to convince people that such dancing as she does on the Perry Como show this week—and in the movie "West Side Story"—is difficult.

"I was sitting in my hotel last night and tried to cross my legs," she said. "I got one leg up in the air and it stuck there. It stuck there a long time. I had to smack it down. Then I had to sit in the bathtub for hours massaging it."

"You know that Dali painting where everything's melting? That's me melting... after doing an 11-minute non-stop dance for Perry with no breathing time. It's murder."

"You're from Brooklyn, aren't you?" I said. "You moved there from Puerto Rico, didn't you?"

"Look, you don't believe everything you write, do you? I'm from Washington Heights. I used to go to picnics under the George Washington Bridge. But they like the image of a Latin from Brooklyn—so they keep saying I'm from Brooklyn. I've never been to Brooklyn."

"Are you having any interesting romances?"

Miss Moreno who has been linked with Marlon Brando among others, swung on me. "None of your business!"

"But," I said, "I always ask actresses that and they always tell me names."

"You write that about me and I'll send you a little package that ticks. Didn't you ever meet anybody who has any self-esteem?"

"Who has more self-esteem than actors and actresses?"

"I don't like actors—and actresses—anyway. Just as I hate people calling you by your first name when they don't know you. And strangers who call you 'Sweetie!' That really raises the hackles. They really get defrosted. They have icicles hanging from their noses."

My favorite recollection of Chico Marx is his ordering a beer in a London club—"and make sure it's cold, not like your English beer"—a decade ago. Half an hour later he asked for his beer. The waiter said, "We're freezing it for you, sir." . . . The Ritz Bros. paid him a remarkable tribute at the International: 10 seconds of silence throughout the room.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . Jack Carter, kidding, says he figures Lucille Ball and Gary Morton will become "Garyllu" any day. . . . Quote from my B.W. about "Everybody Loves Opal": "Delightful comedy . . . no message . . . believable . . . and that new girl Brenda Vaccaro is wonderful!"

Debra Page's pretty sister, Lisa Gaye, does ABC's "Hawaiian Eye" October 18.

Ron Randall flying from Germany to the "King of Kings" premiere, changed into a tuxedo aboard the plane. . . . Jack Carter rushed in from Hollywood to attend wife Paula Stewart's opening in "Let It Ride"; he'll fly right back to sign another film contract. . . . Show Business Illustrated will have a new cover design, and maybe a new name—SBI. . . . Mickey Spillane said at Cavanagh's his next book will be a romantic novel.

Carol Lawrence recorded 19 consecutive hours to finish the "Magic Nutcracker." Tver but the technical crews were changed twice. . . . Ossie Davis, of the Broadway comedy, "Purple Haze," has offers from MGM and U-I, as a writer.

EARL'S PEARLS: One of the first things a child learns when he gets a drum is that he isn't ever gonna get another one.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle said she's entering her dog in several shows: "I don't care about him winning—but I do want him to meet some nice dogs."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The basic plot of Russian stories (Notes Quote) is Boy Meets Tractor, Girl Meets Quota.

Cigarettes can be very unhealthy for a man. For instance, when his wife comes home and finds some with lipstick on them. That's earl, brother.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Jerry Redding, age 12, of Winston-Salem, N.C., for his question:

How are colloids held together?

The chemistry of colloids takes us down to particles of matter too small for our eyes to see and explains how they behave when mixed with other substances. These particles carry charges of positive and negative electricity. As in all things, two positive charges repel each other, as do two negative charges. Two opposite charges attract each other and tend to pull small particles together. This principle acts to some extent in the colloids. Another factor is the size of the particles themselves.

Ink, milk, mud, salty water, gelatin and fog are all mixtures of tiny particles suspended in another material. The chemist calls these mixtures dispersions, and they come in three gradations. A pinch of salt in a glass of water dissolves and becomes a solution. The sizable particles of silt in a pail of muddy water will settle to the bottom. When the particles are larger than the dissolved salt particles—and smaller than the sizeable silt particles, they can form colloid dispersions. Gelatin, protoplasm and sometimes fog are colloids because the right-sized particles can remain suspended for an indefinite length of time.

In some cases, the particles in a colloid are kept apart because of electric charges. They may be prevented, by electric charges between them and the medium material in which they are suspended or by the charges between each other, from getting together, to form clots large enough to sink or float. Certain chemicals can change this situation. Latex, the milky sap from the rubber tree, is a colloid. When formic acid is added, the electrical picture changes and the rubber particles clot together.

Cancel Pull of Gravity

The basic factor in a colloid, however, is the size of the suspended particles. They must be bigger than the atoms, ions and single molecules which form solutions and smaller than those in silty water. By and large, they measure anywhere from 25 million to 2,000 million to an inch. They are often long chains or networks of linked molecule units. Like all particles they are very energetic. In a solid medium, they vibrate. In a gas or liquid they rush at breakneck speeds and collide countless times a second. This speed is governed by size and, at ordinary temperatures, the colloid particles are just the right size to cancel the pull of the earth's gravity.

The chemist calls this surface size the area compared with the volume. The surface area of a one-inch cube is six square inches. Cut into colloid particles, this same volume has a total surface area of 200 acres. A greater proportion of atoms are now at the surface and fewer buried inside. This and other factors give the colloid particle just the right amount of energy to remain suspended and separated in the colloid dispersion.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Carl Stocker, age 15, of Ypsilanti, Mich., for his question:

How big is a sunspot?

The radiant face of our glorious sun is often mottled with rashes of spots. We do not notice them, for the sun is too bright for our eyes and no sensible person looks directly at it. Astronomers tell us that sunspots may be stormy upheavals on the face of the sun, most of them big enough to swallow up our whole world many times.

The diameter of the earth is about 8,000 miles. A big sunspot may have a dark centre 50,000 miles wide and a somewhat lighter area around it spreading 150,000 miles from side to side. Such a monster is often accompanied by a rash of small sunspots, some of them just a few hundred miles wide.

Pearson Urges Canada to Act

OTTAWA (CP)—Any concessions offered by Soviet Premier Khrushchev in his speech Tuesday are more than balanced by threats and Canada should take the initiative at the United Nations to condemn the proposed 50-megaton Russian nuclear test, Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson said Wednesday.

"World opinion should be mobilized at once to condemn this," Mr. Pearson said in a statement. He said that if the U.N. can so quickly pass a resolution censoring the speech of the South African delegate, "it should be possible to pass at once a resolution condemning the proposed test of the U.S.S.R. and embodying the feeling of all men that it should not take place."

TWIN SUBWAY ROUTE PLANNED FOR MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP)—La Presse says Montreal is going to build two subways—one running north and south, the other east and west—at a total cost of $150,000,000. Construction of the subways is to be completed within four years, the newspaper says, adding that Mayor Jean Drapeau is to announce the plans formally Oct. 24, providing an agreement is reached before then with Premier Jean Lesage.

'No Man's Land,' Belgrade Fear

WASHINGTON (AP)—Yugoslavia was reported this week to have asked the United States if it is changing its policy toward the Communist country.

grade note came in response to the outcry here over the U.S. sale to Yugoslavia of 130 surplus Sabre jet fighter planes.

Yugoslav diplomats, the informants said, fear a change in U.S. policy toward President Tito's government might put Yugoslavia in a diplomatic no-man's land between East and West.

State department officials would not confirm receipt of the note.

Informants said that Tito's government expressed the hope there will be no change in basic relations—including U.S. economic co-operation—between the two countries.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Monday a current review of U.S.-Yugoslav relations "goes into all aspects of assistance to Yugoslavia."

The Tito regime recently asked the United States to consider selling to Yugoslavia some additional surplus agricultural commodities with payment to be in Yugoslav currency. The United States has not agreed to negotiate this request.

IRKED BY TITO

It's been reported that President Kennedy was irked by Tito's stand at the Belgrade conference of 25 non-aligned nations. Tito's speech at the conference tended to support Soviet policies.

Diplomatic sources said Kennedy made known his views in a sharply worded memorandum handed to the Yugoslav leader by U.S. Ambassador George F. Kennan last month. Belgrade replied in a memorandum stating that Yugoslavia's position had not been changed. But this apparently failed to clear the atmosphere.

It is understood the Yugoslavs anticipate some loud abuse from Moscow during the current Communist party meeting, probably from Soviet Premier Khrushchev himself.

Informants said Yugoslav diplomats here are wondering if the United States is intending deliberately to isolate the country by bringing it under criticism from both East and West at the same time.

An orange tree in Florida yields about 600 pounds of fruit each year while in Egypt the average is about 60 pounds.

'Two Bombs Better Than One'

WASHINGTON (CP) — Dr. Ralph Lapp, a United States nuclear scientist, said Wednesday each U.S. B-52 strategic bomber packs a nuclear wallop greater than Russia's proposed 50-megaton nuclear bomb.

"These B-52 bombers would be airborne over Canada in times of an alert," said the atomic bomb pioneer and former U.S. defence department consultant.

Dr. Lapp said the U.S. has built 24-megaton hydrogen warheads—equivalent to 24,000,000 tons of TNT—and each of the B-52 planes of the U.S. Strategic Air Command is capable of carrying two of these warheads on long-range flights to Russia.

The two 24-megaton bombs would do more damage than one 50-megaton weapon because in these massive weapons of annihilation some of the extra energy from each explosion is dissipated, said Dr. Lapp.

By splitting the load into two weapons, the attacking plane could have greater flexibility. It could drop one 24-megaton bomb at one centre and carry the other 24-megaton weapon elsewhere.

Bonner Produces Proof Bennett Not 'Insolent'

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today shot down the charge of former judge A. M. Manson that the government has acted in contempt of the lieutenant-governor.

B.C. Boycotted By Bond Firm

Echoes of the B.C. Electric takeover still sounded today as an eastern investment firm suspended dealing in B.C. government bonds.

The Montreal investment firm of Kippen and Co. announced that it has advised its customers against buying any B.C. government securities and asked them to send letters of protest about the takeover to Premier Bennett.

"So long as B.C. is under the administration of a government which seemingly has no respect for the traditional rights of the investor, we shall guard our clients from the hazard of entrusting their savings to that province," said president W. Bruce Kippen.

Local investment dealers said they did not believe the Kippen move would be followed by investment dealers throughout the world.

'QUICK FADE'

They said that while there is opposition to the takeover terms, it will fade quickly.

The real test of confidence in the government would come the next time Premier Bennett attempts to raise money—probably for the Peace River power development, they said.

Herb Kennedy, of James Richardson and Sons, said Mr. Kippen's reaction appeared to be "an individual opinion."

"It would be reflected in the market if it wasn't," he said.

NO DECLINE

B.C. Electric bonds have not shown any sharp decline on the market, and at present are only one quarter of 1 per cent below a comparable Quebec Hydro issue.

Mr. Kippen said he acted after consulting investment dealers in New York, London and Canada. He said they feared other Canadian investments will be seized "on the same arbitrary basis."

Mr. Kennedy said the general reaction to the B.C. Electric takeover "is disturbing but not that the whole house of cards is falling down."

UN Protest By Canada On H-Bomb

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's protest against the Soviet plan to explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb will be taken to the United Nations, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today.

He said External Affairs Minister Green would reiterate Canada's position, rejected Wednesday by the Soviet embassy here, and action might be taken in the United Nations against Russia.

Mr. Diefenbaker, meeting reporters before a morning cabinet meeting, said that while the embassy rejected the protest because it dealt with a domestic Russian matter, the contamination of the world's atmosphere by fallout "scarcely" came under the heading of "domesticity."

"Mr. Green will express our viewpoint in New York in the General Assembly debate," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

"I said a week ago that lodging a protest would not be effectual, but some newspaper columnists disagreed. We lodged the protest and I think the answer of the U.S.S.R. showed who is right."

NOTE REFUSED

The Canadian note of protest was read to, and examined by, a Soviet Embassy officer. He refused to accept it, saying it dealt with a purely domestic Russian matter.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that the explosion of nuclear devices poses a tremendous danger for the world.

He declined to say what action Canada might take in the United Nations, but added that a specific resolution might be considered.

Fallout From Underground?

OTTAWA (CP)—Gavril Kaverin, counsellor at the Russian Embassy, said today that Canada is getting radioactive fallout from current nuclear bomb tests in the United States as well as from Soviet testing.

"It is nonsense to say that these underground (American) tests don't give fallout—this is just to deceive the people," he said in defending his embassy's rejection Wednesday of a Canadian protest against the Soviet plan to explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb.

Verwoerd Returned With Bigger Margin

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters)—Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's Nationalist party was returned to power today in the first general election since South Africa became a republic last May.

Incomplete returns gave Verwoerd's segregationist party 78 seats in the 156-member House. The Nationalists were expected to win 25 of the 32 seats where the counting of Wednesday's ballots was not complete.

This would give the Nationalists one seat more than they held in the last Parliament.

The United party, Verwoerd's main opposition, had won 44 seats by noon today and the National Union and the Progressives had one seat each.

In the outgoing assembly, the Nationalists had 102 seats, the United Party and the National Union 43 and the Progressives 11.

REDS REWARD CHILD SPIES WITH PRIZES

BERLIN (AP)—The Communists are offering prizes to children who betray people trying to escape from East Germany.

Football and track suits have been handed out to young informers in the border area, the military correspondent of the Communist newspaper Das Volk reported.

The writer said the vigilant youngsters were all members of the Young Pioneers, the junior Red youth movement for 10 to 14-year-olds.

Soviet Claim Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. officials today rejected the Soviet contention that the Western powers are misfiring the air corridors to Berlin. (See page 3.)

COMMUNIST SOLIDARITY PROCLAIMED BY CHOU

MOSCOW (UPI)—Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai today reaffirmed the solidarity of the Communist camp including Albania, and denounced President Kennedy as treacherous and adventurous.

Chou told the 22nd Soviet Communist Congress that as long as imperialism existed the danger of war existed.

He said that while Kennedy was wearing an olive branch he was really feverishly preparing for war.

The Chinese leader suggested that if differences arise between Socialist countries they should be settled patiently and in a spirit of co-operation, it was learned.

TERROR IN CONGO

Katanga Army Beats Invaders

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—Katanga troops fought off an attempted invasion of the province by a small force of the central Congo government's army in a five-hour battle Wednesday, an official Katanga statement asserted today.

The statement, on Katanga radio, said the clash occurred near Kapanang on the western borders of the secessionist province. It said about six truckloads of central army troops were beaten back by 250 Katanga soldiers.

"There was no mention of casualties."

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—

The Katanga government today gave the United Nations 24 hours to disperse thousands of Baluba refugees camping on the outskirts of Elisabethville.

"If the UN force doesn't break up the camp, President Tshombe's government said it would do the job itself."

The ultimatum was the result of a day of terror Wednesday during which at least 26 persons were killed and many others were savagely mutilated by rampaging Baluba youth. The dead included a police brigadier and two other officers.

Medical personnel worked far into the night, treating wounds from arrows, bullets and jungle knives. Some of the wounded had hands hacked off.

RESCUED

After being locked in railroad boxcar for 10 days, without food or water, Patrick Kelly, 51, of Los Angeles, is recovering in Yreka, Calif. hospital. Kelly entered boxcar in Los Angeles Oct. 8 headed for Oakland but soon discovered the doors had been locked. He was discovered Wednesday by employees of box factory as they opened car to start loading. (AP Wirephoto.)

Gales Lash North Sea

LONDON (Reuters)—Gales battered shipping in the North Sea today, taking a heavy toll of men and ships. At least 10 persons were reported dead or missing.

WESTERN MINISTERS TO MEET IN PARIS?

PARIS (UPI)—An early western Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Paris is under serious consideration, a high Allied diplomatic source disclosed tonight.

If it takes place, it probably would be held soon after the Moscow Communist Party Congress ends, the source said.

French President Charles de Gaulle, who vetoed a strategy meeting of minor western experts in London this week, might agree to a full-fledged foreign ministers' conference if it is held in Paris, diplomats here believe.

BLOOD, SYRINGE NEEDLE FOUND IN VILLA

VIENNA (AP)—Police today were questioning scores of possible witnesses in the mysterious disappearance of Dr. Aurel Abranyi, a Hungarian exile journalist believed to have been kidnapped by Communist agents.

But the only known suspect was safely behind the Iron Curtain.

Abranyi, a refugee from Hungary since 1949, disappeared last Thursday after a telephone call from another Hungarian for a rendezvous in a Vienna villa.

The caller, identified as Laszlo Geroc, a Budapest businessman representing Western firms, slipped into Hungary shortly after the call. Detectives, notified by Mrs. Abranyi when her husband failed to return home, found the villa empty. Traces of blood, broken furniture and a syringe needle indicated that the journalist

Politics Charge Levelled at UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The Soviet Union accused Canada and other countries today of a "petty political game" in their campaign for a world-wide measurement of nuclear radioactivity.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin made the charge in the United Nations General Assembly's special political committee as pressure grew in the UN for a move aimed at heading off Russia's plan to explode history's biggest bomb blast.

Tsarapkin, bitterly critical of the Canadian resolution which is sponsored by 24 other countries, said the Soviet Union was forced to resume nuclear tests because of Western preparations for war.

He said that the Soviet Union is as concerned as any other country to put an end to nuclear tests but this can be done only through general and complete disarmament and any other course is "falacious and fruitless."

Although Soviet Premier Khrushchev said the Russian tests would end at the close

Discrimination Denied by Bunche

Dr. Ralph Bunche, UN under-secretary, denied the charges of discrimination immediately after the Russian finished his speech.

Tsarapkin seemed to dispute figures produced earlier by Canadian delegate Paul Tremblay and Japanese, Norwegian and Swedish delegates showing that radioactive activity increased over their countries since the resumption of Russian tests in the atmosphere.

"We cannot base our debate here on controversial information from national sources about the levels of radiation," Tsarapkin said.

He spoke as the main struggle over nuclear tests continued today in the assembly's 101-member senior political committee, where the Soviet Union suffered procedural defeats last night over the order in which debate should be conducted.

French delegate Pierre Millet supported the Canadian resolution and defended his country from criticism by African delegates regarding French atomic tests in the Sahara.

Millet said France had taken "better safeguards" against fallout than any other nuclear country and had announced a cessation against such experiments last April.

The committee adjourned until Friday afternoon when it will likely reach a vote after hearing several more speakers.

Girl Loses Job Over Appeal Card

TORONTO (CP)—Dorothy Budd, employee of a Toronto soap-products manufacturer, said today she was fired for refusing to sign a United Appeal card which obligated her to pay 10 cents a week.

Miss Budd, who worked for Household Cleaners Limited for 16 years, said the company typed in the employees' names on the cards and the 10-cent amount and asked them to sign.

"I told them I give to the Salvation Army and if the company wants to give to the United Appeal that's their privilege," she said.

Earl Browning, a Household executive, said there was no written rule requiring employees to give, but admitted there was a verbal request. He said there were other reasons behind Miss Budd's dismissal.

Toronto appeal chairman G. Allan Burton said:

"The United Appeal has never approved of any threats or pressure to raise funds. It's entirely up to the individual."

David Archer, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, said the woman has no recourse to the Ontario Labor Relations Act because there is no union at Household Cleaners.

No Pay Loss For CD Work

CALGARY (CP)—Federal civil servants will be granted time off with no loss in pay if they join the government's six-week militia training course in civil defence and survival, Defence Minister Harkness said here today.

Mr. Harkness told a press conference response to a plea for 100,000 men to take the course has been "satisfactory."

SOUTH OF THE BORDER — WOW!

Visitors from Mexico are rare enough in Victoria under any circumstances, but when they are young, beautiful, and GIRLS — Carambola! These pretties, aged 18 to 26, work at Mauna Loa Restaurant in Mexico City, and are on trip paid by management to Honolulu to learn Hawaiian dance.

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Do people live longer in Victoria? Or would they live just as long anywhere else? World-traveller Arthur Turvey insists that longevity is born of heredity and a strong constitution. All this talk of soft climates, soft scenery and slower tempos is a lot of bunk, he says. Sir Winston Churchill doesn't live in a soft climate and his wartime tempo was anything but slow. Yet, despite every assault on his life, he is still living.

And, as Mrs. Esther Moore of 1843 Crescent, points out, Victoria has no monopoly of old-timers.

She forwarded a copy of the Tottenham Weekly Herald which records no less than three golden weddings, one diamond wedding and the birthday of a 106-year-old man, all in the same issue.

Tottenham is a smoky industrial town of North London — and they say the London smog is the deadliest killer of all. Why then does it have so many old-timers?

This same issue of the Tottenham Herald contains a half-page advertisement for:

Men aged 60-65 urgently wanted by a local radio factory, along with advertisements for clerks, typists, shop assistants, packers, mail order clerks, fitters, buyers, plumbers and all kinds of machine operators.

There is no unemployment, it seems, for young or old in Britain today.

Six readers say the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley was held in 1925; five say it was in 1924. Both groups are right — the exhibition was held in 1924 and 1925, according to our files.

R. J. Pope of 157 Joseph recalls that, when he went there with his school in 1925, the students were forbidden to go into the Fun Fair because it was considered "non-instructive."

We complain constantly of Vancouver stealing our proudest scenic beauties and using them to its own ends — witness "Come to Vancouver and the Beautiful Malahat Drive."

By contrast, V. R. Pilkington of North Vancouver sends me a postcard of penguins jukuriating in what is described as the "beautiful Victoria Zoo."

Alas, we have no zoo and no penguins either.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

An auction of household and garden furniture and office equipment will be held in St. George's parish hall, Cadboro Bay, in aid of the new parish hall, next Saturday at 1.30 p.m.

Thomas Bernard Blouin, HMCS-Margaree, was fined $20 in city police court today for being a minor in possession of liquor.

Police said he was found Sept. 11 at 8.50 p.m. in the 600 block Humboldt Street with two cases of beer.

Victoria Labor Council on Wednesday unanimously approved a resolution reiterating its request for the provincial government for a technical, vocational school to be built in this area. The resolution was proposed by council secretary A. W. Toone.

Jaywalkers will be given special attention by police in Victoria's downtown business section.

Deputy Chief Harry Mercer said offending pedestrians will be given warnings by members of the force for the next two weeks but infractions after that would be rewarded with summonses.

The action was prompted by an increase in the number of pedestrians darting across streets in the middle of blocks which has resulted in several accidents during the past three weeks.

Victoria British Israel Association will meet in the Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street, next Tuesday at 7.45 p.m. Reports of the convention of the Canadian British Israel Association at Windsor, Ont., Oct. 5-8, will be given by delegates.

A Cross of Sacrifice will be unveiled by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes in the Veterans' Cemetery, Esquimalt, on Oct. 27 at 2.30 p.m.

The symbolic granite cross is identical to one in Ross Bay Cemetery and others erected in many countries by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission in tribute to Commonwealth servicemen.

The Veterans' Cemetery, situated near Gorge Vale Golf Club, is more than 100 years old and more than 800 servicemen are buried there.

Federal civil servants in Victoria will get a holiday Monday, Nov. 13 for Remembrance Day, but provincial government employees may not be so lucky.

A federal cabinet decision, announced by the Civil Service Commission at Ottawa, allows 200,000 federal employees across Canada an extra day off.

Remembrance Day actually falls on a Saturday, Nov. 11. The cabinet now has power to decide holidays under a new Civil Service Act passed this year.

Last holiday to fall on a Saturday was Dominion Day this summer.

Victoria Out of Step On Fireworks

Greater Victoria's year-long quest for a uniform fireworks bylaw still won't be completed in time for this Halloween because of city council.

But three-quarters of the area — Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt — will be in step with regulations prohibiting sale of fireworks except 48 hours before Halloween; explosion of fireworks except between noon and midnight Oct. 31, and only on private property.

More than a year ago, inter-municipal committee began working for a uniform set of regulations on sale and explosion of fireworks to end a chaotic situation.

BORDER CROSSING

With different deadlines for sale of firecrackers in the four municipalities, youngsters could get as many firecrackers as often as they wished long before Halloween merely by walking across a municipal boundary. Same applied to the periods during which they could explode the fireworks.

To stop the abuses, inter-municipal committee called for a uniform bylaw last year but there was not enough time to obtain the measure before Halloween.

During the ensuing months, solicitors of the four municipalities met and drafted a uniform bylaw.

With amendments, that bylaw will be in force before Oct. 31 in Saanich and Esquimalt. It already has been adopted in Oak Bay.

NO PROCESS

Only the city of Victoria has not started the process of adopting the bylaw.

Although the city has studied the draft it has not even received first reading. It cannot go into effect in time for this Halloween without special council meetings.

In any event, passage of the bylaw by city council would mean little now because stores have been legally permitted to sell fireworks in the city since Oct. 14 under the present bylaw.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Manager Jack Morgan will speak on "Our Memorial Arena and Its Future."

GLOBE-TROTTERING FUTURE FOR OUR MISS CANADA

By HAL JONES

Eighteen-year-old Nina Holden of Victoria, who took over the Miss Canada title four weeks ago, will be an accomplished globe-trotter by the time she relinquishes her crown next summer.

The dark-haired former Victoria High School student has a busy year ahead of her, including trips to Europe, Haiti, a Caribbean paradise, South America and a possible trip to Russia.

Up to now she has been kept busy opening functions and making personal appearances in the East.

Her activities have included the opening of a school in Copetown, Ont., opening an agricultural fair and presenting prizes at a horse show.

In an interview after the school opening, Nina is quoted as saying she has almost certainly made up her mind to become an elementary school teacher "but this next year will tell for sure."

At Buchan, president of Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, today said officials of the Miss Canada pageant had notified the junior chamber they are "delighted" at the way in which the Victoria girl is filling her role.

Nina also was paid a tribute Wednesday night by S. Radcliffe Weaver, director of the Miss Canada Pageant, at a Burlington dinner.

At the same time, Mr. Weaver announced he is retiring from the directorship, a position he has held for the past 16 years.

Nothing that he has been the continual target for criticism over the years; he defended the pageant's dethroning of Connie Gail Feller of Ottawa as the 1962 Miss Canada.

He said certain contributors have withdrawn as a result of the action, "but it will come out all right."

Early Tax Date Offers Saving To Ratepayers

Deadline Moved Up Two Months

City taxpayers will save $25,000 by paying their taxes two months early next year, finance committee was told today.

Committee recommended council move the present Sept. 30 deadline for payment of taxes to July 31 next year in order to reap the benefit.

"The saving would amount to one-quarter of a mill each year," said comptroller-treasurer James Bramley. "It might cause some inconvenience to taxpayers next year but after that it would become the regular thing."

INTEREST COST

He pointed out the city now pays about $45,000 in interest charges for short-term borrowings to cover its bills during the early part of the year while waiting for taxes to come in.

"Three-quarters of the year is over now before our taxes come in," he said.

The earlier deadline would cut down the interest charges and enable the city to earn more interest itself on deposits.

"All the other municipalities in this area have due dates that are earlier than Victoria's," he said.

Guilty Plea To Thefts From Cars

A Victoria man pleaded guilty today in city police court to three charges of theft of goods from parked cars and was remanded to Oct. 27 for probation report and sentence.

Keith Alfred Shepherd, 1060 Burdett, was charged with theft of three articles early today from parked cars.

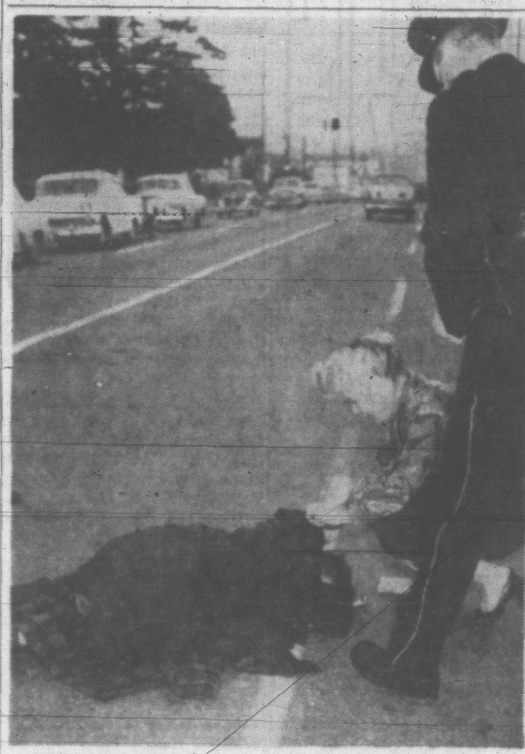

Police said he was arrested after being found sitting in a parked car on Moss Street at 5.30 a.m. attempting to force the glove compartment. Nothing was missing.

STOLE RIFLE

He subsequently admitted taking a .303 jungle carbine rifle from a car owned by Roy Wilson, 232 Richmond, while it was parked outside Wilson's home earlier in the night.

Police found the weapon in Ross Bay Cemetery together with a loaded magazine.

On his person at the time of arrest were a plastic flask containing liquor and a flashlight which he admitted taking earlier from cars owned respectively by Frank Rowbotham, 1802 Richardson, and Eileen M. Wilson, 903 Lonsdale. Both cars had been parked outside their owners' homes.

THROWN 62 FEET in a car accident today, 13-year-old Carl Wong, of 1710 1/2 Government, waits, still conscious, for ambulance. Child was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital for observation but was understood to be in good condition with a bump on the head. Police said the car, driven by Frank Luff, 1898 Forester, collided with the boy at Rose and Hillside at 8.15 a.m. Witness said the boy "flew through the air and hit the road like a limp rag." He was on his way to school. (Times photo.)

Committee Weighs Goodwill Exemption

City finance committee today referred a Goodwill Enterprises request for tax exemption to intermunicipal committee to see if the four municipalities would subsidize the organization for handicapped.

Dr. R. J. Wride said the non-profit organization pays about $800 in property taxes which it would like to divert into a building fund aimed at erecting workshops at Bay and Wilson which would enable it to employ 100 more handicapped persons.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said the city now has an "alarming" total of $33,000,000 of tax-exempt property to service and did not feel council could properly break its policy of refusing voluntary additions to this list.

But he asked the delegation to meet intermunicipal committee Friday to see if the four municipalities would be willing to give a grant to the organization equal to its tax bills.

Committee asked council to set a policy of permitting only convention welcome messages and United Appeal slogans to be put up free on the Causeway overhead lighting strings.

City manager C. C. Wyatt reported the city could not afford to buy up more private property in the Memorial Arena block in order to sell it to the Curling Club. The club recently asked for the extra land so it could build an extension which would inaugurate the city's first family recreational centre.

Committee declined to endorse a Chamber of Commerce request that the city double its usual $750 annual grant for Christmas decorations to help the chamber expand last year's project of erecting Christmas trees on downtown city streets.

"We've only got that much in the budget for it and it's too late to change now," said Ald. A. L. Curtis.

BCE Building 'Not Enough' For All Staff

The B.C. Power Commission is faced with a shortage of office space and the prospect of running the unprofitable Victoria transit service next Jan. 1.

The B.C. Electric Building will not be big enough to house the staff of the B.C. Power Commission when it takes over all Vancouver Island electricity business, B.C. hydro chairman Dr. H. L. Keenleyside said today.

He said the possibility of an addition to the 100,000-square-foot B.C. Electric Building is being considered.

"We haven't decided yet," said Dr. Keenleyside.

"Obviously there will not be room enough in the B.C. Electric Building and the Weiler Building for all our staff."

PART RENTED

In addition to present B.C. Power Commission staff a number of B.C. Electric personnel will stay in Victoria next Jan. 1. The power commission at present rents part of the Weiler Building for overflow staff.

B.C. Electric has swapped its Greater Victoria system for Interior and northern B.C. Power Commission territory.

While B.C. Hydro is puzzling over the problem of space for staff, the City of Victoria is negotiating for purchase of the B.C. Hydro building on Blanshard Street for a new city hall.

NEGOTIATIONS

After an hour-long meeting of aldermen this morning, Mayor Percy Scurrell confirmed this. "Negotiations have started with a view to price and suitability for use as a city hall," he said.

Dr. Keenleyside said that B.C. Hydro also intends to run the B.C. Electric bus service in Victoria "unless other arrangements are made."

He said he knows nothing of any move to give the transit service to the city.

City and B.C. Electric officials also denied any such offer had been made.

"We have discussed no such proposition with Victoria," said B.C. Electric president Dr. Gordon Shrum.

Municipalities are afraid they might be saddled with unprofitable transit operations here and in Greater Vancouver when contracts expire in three years time with the crown-owned utility.

UN Protest
By Canada
On H-Bomb

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's protest against the Soviet plan to explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb will be taken to the United Nations, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today.

He said External Affairs Minister Green would reiterate Canada's position, rejected Wednesday by the Soviet embassy here, and action might be taken in the United Nations against Russia.

Mr. Diefenbaker, meeting reporters before a morning cabinet meeting, said that while the embassy rejected the protest because it dealt with a domestic Russian matter, the contamination of the world's atmosphere by fallout "scarcely came under the heading of 'domesticity'."

"Mr. Green will express our viewpoint in New York in the General Assembly debate," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

"I said a week ago that lodging a protest would not be effectual, but some newspaper columnists disagreed. We lodged the protest and I think the answer of the U.S.S.R. showed who is right."

NOTE REFUSED

The Canadian note of protest was read to, and examined by, a Soviet Embassy officer. He refused to accept it, saying it dealt with a purely domestic Russian matter.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that the explosion of nuclear devices poses a tremendous danger for the world.

He declined to say what action Canada might take in the United Nations, but added that a specific resolution might be considered.

FIRST BCE CONTRACTS
AWARDED FOR PEACETunnel, Bridge
Projects Set

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contracts for a pilot tunnel and a bridge at the site of the Peace River power dam were awarded today to firms from Edmonton and Vancouver by the government-owned B.C. Electric Co.

McNamara Construction

Western Limited of Edmonton received a $241,200 contract to drive a 10-foot square tunnel 2,500 feet through the west bank of the Peace about 10 miles west of Hudson Hope, 60 miles west of Fort St. John.

Western Bridge and Steel Fabricators Limited of Vancouver received a contract of $300,000 to build a single-lane bridge across the Peace River canyon just upstream from the dam location.

READY BY FEBRUARY

Both jobs are scheduled for completion in February, B.C. Electric said in a statement announcing the contract awards.

The contracts are the first awarded for work put out to public tender. The provincial highways department earlier began construction of access roads, cost of which is being paid by B.C. Electric. The company has not indicated what amount is involved in this work.

McNamara was one of nine firms bidding on the tunnel job. Other bids ranged up to $432,760. The tunnel is to be driven to explore rock formations under the west bank of the river where, beginning in February, three 50-foot-diameter diversion tunnels 3,000 feet long are to be drilled.

The diversion tunnels will pass Peace waters around a section of the existing river bed while construction is under way on the multi-million-dollar dam at Portage Mountain. Eventually, the pilot tunnel will become part of a larger diversion tunnel.

Western Bridge won the bridge contract against a bid by Dominion Bridge Company. It will build a steel-arch bridge to reach 500 feet across Peace River Canyon 120 feet above the river level. The span will provide access to the diversion tunnel site and other work areas on the river's west bank.

Work on both projects is to start immediately. The two projects are the first major steps in a proposed scheme which will cost an estimated $882,000,000 upon completion, with about half that amount to be spent during the next four or five years.

B.C. Electric has moved ahead with the project since the government moved Aug. 1 to make the company a publicly-owned utility and to give it control over the Peace project.

B.C. Boycotted
By Bond Firm

Echoes of the B.C. Electric takeover still sounded today as an eastern investment firm suspended dealing in B.C. government bonds.

The Montreal investment firm of Kippen and Co. announced that it has advised its customers against buying any B.C. government securities and asked them to send letters of protest about the takeover to Premier Bennett.

"So long as B.C. is under the administration of a government which seemingly has no respect for the traditional rights of the investor, we shall guard our clients from the hazard of entrusting their savings to that province," said president W. Bruce Kippen.

Local investment dealers said they did not believe the Kippen move would be followed by investment dealers throughout the world.

'QUICK FADE'

They said that while there is opposition to the takeover terms, it will fade quickly.

The real test of confidence in the government would come the next time Premier Bennett attempts to raise money—probably for the Peace River power development, they said. Herb Kennedy of James Richardson and Sons, said Mr. Kippen's reaction appeared to be "an individual opinion."

"It would be reflected in the market if it wasn't," he said. NO DECLINE

B.C. Electric bonds have not shown any sharp decline on the market, and at present are only one quarter of 1 per cent below a comparable Quebec Hydro issue.

Mr. Kippen said he acted after consulting investment dealers in New York, London and Canada. He said they feared other Canadian investments will be seized "on the same arbitrary basis."

Mr. Kennedy said the general reaction to the B.C. Electric takeover "is disturbing but not that the whole house of cards is falling down."

SOVIET CHARGES

Radiation Plan
'Petty Game'

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The Soviet Union accused Canada and other countries today of a "petty political game" in their campaign for a world-wide measurement of nuclear radioactivity.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin made the charge in the United Nations General Assembly's special political committee as pressure grew in the UN for a move aimed at heading off Russia's plan to explode history's biggest bomb blast.

Tsarapkin, bitterly critical of the Canadian resolution which is sponsored by 24 other countries, said the Soviet Union was forced to resume nuclear tests because of Western preparations for war.

He said that the Soviet Union is as concerned as any other country to put an end to nuclear tests but this can be done only through general and complete disarmament and any other course is "fallacious and fruitless."

Although Soviet Premier Khrushchev said the Russian tests would end at the close of this month, Tsarapkin seemed to indicate further blasts in the future by saying such tests cannot be abandoned by Russia until the Western powers agree to general and complete disarmament.

Tsarapkin led off debate today with a charge that the UN secretariat had discriminated against Soviet members on the 15-nation UN scientific committee on the effects of radiation, of which such countries as the United States, Britain and Canada are members, besides Russia and Czechoslovakia.

Tsarapkin said the secretariat had failed to make adequate use of information supplied to the committee by his government and had also discriminated against a Soviet scientist by refusing to appoint him committee secretary.

Discrimination Denied by Bunche

Dr. Ralph Bunche, UN under-secretary, denied the charges of discrimination immediately after the Russian finished his speech.

Tsarapkin seemed to dispute figures produced earlier by Canadian delegate Paul Tremblay and Japanese, Norwegian and Swedish delegates showing that radioactive activity increased over their countries since the resumption of Russian tests in the atmosphere.

"We cannot base our debate here on controversial information from national sources about the levels of radiation," Tsarapkin said.

He spoke as the main struggle over nuclear tests continued today in the assembly's 101-member senior political committee, where the Soviet Union suffered procedural defeats last night over the order in which debate should be conducted.

French delegate Pierre Millet supported the Canadian resolution and defended his country from criticism by African delegates regarding French atomic tests in the Sahara.

Millet said France had taken "better safeguards" against fallout than any other nuclear country and had announced a cessation against such experiments last April.

The committee adjourned until Friday afternoon when it will likely reach a vote after hearing several more speakers.

Fallout From
TERROR IN CONGO

OTTAWA (CP) — Gavril Kaverin, counsellor at the Russian Embassy, said today that Canada is getting radioactive fallout from current nuclear bomb tests in the United States as well as from Soviet testing.

"It is nonsense to say that these underground (American) tests don't give fallout—this is just to deceive the people," he said in defending his embassy's rejection Wednesday of a Canadian protest against the Soviet plan to explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb.

Girl Loses Job
Over Appeal Card

TORONTO (CP)—Dorothy Budd, employee of a Toronto soap-products manufacturer, said today she was fired for refusing to sign a United Appeal card which obligated her to pay 10 cents a week.

Miss Budd, who worked for Household Cleaners Limited for 16 years, said the company typed in the employees' names on the cards and the 10-cent amount and asked them to sign.

"I told them I give to the Salvation Army and if the company wants to give to the United Appeal that's their privilege," she said.

Earl Browning, a Household executive, said there was no written rule requiring employees to give, but admitted there was a verbal request. He said there were other reasons behind Miss Budd's dismissal.

Toronto appeal chairman G. Allan Burton said: "The United Appeal has never approved of any threats or pressure to raise funds. It's entirely up to the individual."

David Archer, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, said the woman has no recourse to the Ontario Labor Relations Act because there is no union at Household Cleaners.

'CHURCHES ARE NO MORE SALT OF THE EARTH'

TORONTO (CP) — A visiting American theologian believes the churches should be concentrating on their proper religious function instead of promoting the status quo and attacking Communism.

Prof. Markus Barth of the University of Chicago Divinity School, said Wednesday night that "churches are no more the salt of the earth, but sugar-coaters of the status quo."

Prof. Barth, in Toronto as special lecturer at Knox Presbyterian College, criticized negative church sermons on the evils of smoking, drinking and Communism.

Western churches do not teach democracy to the world because they don't practice it themselves, he said. The United States, by putting its trust in atomic weapons, is admitting that it doesn't trust democracy to work, Prof. Barth added.

Verwoerd Returned With Bigger Margin

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's Nationalist party was returned to power today in the first general election since South Africa became a republic last May.

Incomplete returns gave Verwoerd's segregationist party 78 seats in the 136-member House. The Nationalists were expected to win 25 of the 32 seats where the counting of Wednesday's ballots was not complete.

This would give the Nationalists one seat more than they held in the last Parliament.

The United party, Verwoerd's main opposition, had won 44 seats by noon today and the National Union and the Progressives had one seat each.

In the outgoing assembly, the Nationalists had 102 seats, the United Party and the National Union 43 and the Progressives 11.

OTTAWA (CP) — United Kingdom government agencies in Canada, Australia and New Zealand will gradually drip their identification as "United Kingdom" and become known as "British," a spokesman said today.

The spokesman for the United Kingdom Information Office—now the British Information Office—said the change is being made because the three senior Commonwealth countries are the only ones in which the U.K. designation has been used recently.

"United Kingdom sounds very cold, and so we have decided to use the term which is more generally used throughout the world," the spokesman said.

'62 CORVAIR

SPORTS CAR SPIRIT...FAMILY CAR FUNCTION

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The amazing air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please, in complete control. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's balanced-braking, enhanced for '62 with greater lining area and a redesigned master cylinder.

And Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and many other so-called extras. You'll note the elegant styling too, enhanced by a new choice of 14 solid colours and 10 two-tone combinations. So take this most care-free of cars for a short spin soon.
